RETURNED MEN IN TORONTO RELEASED TWO COMRADES AND STARTED SMALL BLAZE

Forty Veterans Arrested After Setting Free Two Wounded Men Imprisoned in Hospital and Burning Interior Fittings of Institution

Toronto, July 17.—About forty returned soldiers at the Christie Street Orthopedic Hospital here stormed the guardroom to liberate two of their comrades who were imprisoned there. After bursting open a door and taking out the prisoners, they got a quantity of coal oil, drenched the bedding in the building and set fire to it. As the structure is fireproof, the flames consumed only the inflammable material inside, all the fittings being destroyed.

As the rioting took place on military property, the city police took no action. All the men have been put under arrest by the military authorities.

It is reported the prisoners in the guardroom were two men, each of whom lacks a leg, one having but one arm. They had been sentenced to twenty-eight days' field punishment, number one, for playing cards on Sunday, which includes loss of pay, imprisonment and forfeiture of rations.

The outbreak was the culmination of considerable dissatisfaction which has manifested itself among the patients at this hospital for some weeks.

BELA KUN'S ARMY IS MELTING AWAY

Armed Forces of Soviet Government in Hungary Are Disintegrating

Budapest, July 16, via London, July 17.—Officers of the Soviet army are deserting and the armed forces are slowly disintegrating. Almost the entire air corps has deserted the army. Bela Kun has broken off with nearly all the socialist leaders. He asserted he was tired of trying to ride socialist and communist horses at the same time.

In Austria.
Paris, July 17.—A Vienna dispatch to the Temps says that the Communists are preparing to repeat on July 31 the efforts made in April and June to overthrow the Austrian Government.

A Munich Sentence.
Munich, July 16, via London, July 17.—(Associated Press.)—Erich Toller, a Communist leader and the last of the Bavarian Soviet Government officials to be tried on charges arising from the recent disorders in Bavaria, has been sentenced to confinement for five years in a fortress.

MACHINISTS' UNION LOSES ITS CHARTER

International Body Cuts Off Winnipeg Union For One Big Union Move

Winnipeg, July 17.—Machinists' Lodge No. 122 (Canadian Pacific Railway) had its charter revoked last night by its international representative as a result of its decision to throw in its lot with the One Big Union.

This local body has a membership of about 400, and a big attendance was anticipated in view of the important decision required of the membership. However, not half the lodge's membership put in an appearance and the actual vote was sixty-four in favor of the One Big Union and forty-six against. As a result of this decision, James Somerville, international representative, who had addressed the meeting prior to the vote being taken, declared the charter revoked.

In an interview at the conclusion of the gathering, Mr. Somerville stated that he was fully confident that the majority of the men would reorganize their union and remain on an international basis.

Trainmen.
James Murdoch, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is on record as declaring that the members of the Brotherhood in the Winnipeg district who participated in the recent general strike, which the Brotherhood considers to have been illegal, will be expelled from the union. This policy will be maintained.

REALTY MEN HERE FOR CONVENTION

Victorians Receive Guests Warmly; Sessions Began This Afternoon

With hundreds of real estate men from all parts of Alberta, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana already in the city, and others arriving this afternoon, the success of the three-day Victory Convention of the Inter-State Realty Association, which began in Victoria today is assured. A special barge was pressed into service to bring over the scores of automobiles in which most of the delegates toured to the convention, steamship accommodation proving inadequate to meet the situation.

The convention headquarters in the Belmont Building was the centre of a very busy scene this morning, when delegates were being registered, and escorted to their hotels. Everyone seemed delighted with Victoria. Visitors were loud in their praise of the scenery and the climate.

The officers are as follows:
Officers—E. S. Goodwin, president, Seattle, Wash.; Paul A. Cowgill, secretary-treasurer, Portland, Ore.; Paul C. Murphy, vice-president, Portland, Ore.; I. G. McCormick, vice-president, Spokane, Wash.; John E. Nickerson, vice-president, Lewiston, Ida.; N. M. Apple, vice-president, Lewiston, Mont.; C. T. Cross, vice-president, Victoria.

Directors—A. C. Emerson, Tillamook, Ore.; Owen Beam, Albany, Ore.; Fred W. German, Portland, Ore.; E. B. Arthaud, Hoquiam, Wash.; Havelock C. Boyle, Tacoma, Wash.; D. A. Dwyer, Everett, Wash.; George H. Reed, Grangeville, Idaho; C. R. Slicker, Kampa, Idaho; C. C. Moore, St. Anthony, Idaho; Sam Stenson, Great Falls, Mont.; Edward Brady, Poplar, Mont.; Arthur D. Johnson, Chelan, Mont.; R. A. Fowler, Victoria; A. C. Strick, Vancouver; J. C. Nicolia, Vancouver.

Executive Committee—The above officers and directors and the following past presidents of the Inter-State Realty Association: F. E. Taylor, Portland, Ore.; Fred K. Jones, Spokane, Wash.; Past President of the Washington State Association; Samuel Oliver, Seattle, Wash.; also presidents of all local realty bodies.

Address of Welcome.
The addresses of welcome at the Princess Theatre this afternoon were delivered by Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia; Mayor Porter of Victoria; and C. E. Cross, President of the Victoria Realty Association.

To Mr. Cross's energy a large share of the credit for securing the convention for Victoria is due.
President E. S. Goodwin, of Seattle, replied.

Address of Welcome.
The addresses of welcome at the Princess Theatre this afternoon were delivered by Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia; Mayor Porter of Victoria; and C. E. Cross, President of the Victoria Realty Association.

German Bank Negotiating With New York Banks For Trade Arrangement
New York, July 17.—Officials of the Deutsche Bank of Berlin have started negotiations with New York banks for the establishment of a credit for the benefit of German interests here. It is understood that the Deutsche Bank officials are not acting for themselves alone, but are the spokesmen for the German Government, and the proposed German banking "Kartel" which is being formed. Nothing has been said definitely about the size of the credit desired, but bankers here have been given to understand that the amount is considerable, with $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 for a beginning.

New York, July 17.—The resumption of trade relations with Germany and the restoration of the mail service to that country has resulted in a flood of business to steamship companies connecting with Germany via Scandinavian countries and Holland. The New York postoffice reports heavy mail receipts for Germany.

$3,540,000,000 Is Stated as Total of New British Loan
London, July 17.—Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced in the Commons today that the recent issue of the funding loan amounted to £274,000,000. The Victory Bonds issued amounted to £265,000,000. The total conversions of old issues into new were £169,000,000, making a grand total of £708,000,000 for the loan.

AMERICAN SENATE AND SHANTUNG PLAN
Washington, July 17.—Without a record vote or debate the Senate today adopted the resolution by Senator Borah, of Idaho, a Republican, asking President Wilson to send to the Senate, "if not incompatible with the public interest," a copy of a protest said to have been made by some members of the American peace commission against the Shantung provision in the peace treaty.

Trainmen.
James Murdoch, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is on record as declaring that the members of the Brotherhood in the Winnipeg district who participated in the recent general strike, which the Brotherhood considers to have been illegal, will be expelled from the union. This policy will be maintained.

CARRIER PIGEON WHICH LEFT R-34 SAVED BY A SHIP

New York, July 17.—Carrier pigeon N.R. 6-16-9, believed to be the bird which escaped from the British dirigible R-34 during her return trip from Mineola, N. Y., to the United Kingdom, was brought into port yesterday by Capt. John Chapman, master of the steamship West Kysa, from London.

Capt. Chapman said the pigeon alighted, exhausted, on the deck of the West Kysa on July 11, three days after the R-34 had left Mineola, and readily allowed itself to be made captive.

Germans Trying to Establish Trade Now With Soviet Russia
London, July 17.—The German Government is believed to be trying to establish trade relations with Soviet Russia and a German mission has visited Russia or is about to do so. Cecil B. Harmsworth, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, told the Commons today.

Allied Exchange at New York Reached Lower Levels To-day
New York, July 17.—Exchange on London under went another violent decline here today, demand bills falling to 42 3/4 and cables to 42 3/4, the lowest ever recorded.

Francs also suffered further depreciation, with demand at 7.20 and cables at 7.18.

The Italian rate was lower and quotations for Holland and other North European centres were again unsettled.

International bankers were of the opinion today that a further break in sterling would soon cause British bankers to ship gold to this country.

Strikes Forbidden in Pomerania Now
Berlin, July 17.—(Associated Press.)—All Pomerania is aroused over the proclamation of martial law there and the order prohibiting workmen from striking. The workmen insist that martial law be abolished, that prisoners arrested during the present strikes be released and that recognition be extended to the Workmen's Councils.

Farm Strikes.
Copenhagen, July 17.—The strike of agricultural laborers in the Fransk district of Pomerania is being put down vigorously by German Government troops, according to a dispatch from Griefswald. The soldiers have occupied the estates and are forcing the laborers to return to work. Fifteen members of the executive committee of the Laborers' Union have been arrested.

GEN. PERSHING AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE
London, July 17.—General Pershing, who is here to lead the American troops in the Victory parade Saturday, was the guest of Queen Mary and King George at luncheon at Buckingham Palace today.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT MAY HAVE A MEMBER LESS WHEN RECONSTRUCTION COMPLETED
Winnipeg, July 17.—A special dispatch to The Manitoba Free Press from its Ottawa correspondent says:

"In the latest rumors regarding the reconstruction of the Cabinet more credence is increasingly given to the report that when Sir Robert Borden announces the changes in the Cabinet, one portfolio will be found to have disappeared. If, as is confidently expected, Hon. Arthur Meighen should become Minister of Finance and the situation is not further complicated for the Prime Minister by the resignation of Hon. Frank Carroll as Minister of Public Works, Hon. James Calder as Minister of the Interior, while Hon. N. W. Rowell will become Minister of Public Health, Immigration and Colonization, retaining also his present position as President of the Privy Council.

Professor Fischer Dies in Berlin
Berlin, July 16, via London, July 17.—Emil Fischer, Professor of Chemistry in the University of Berlin, is dead.

Professor Fischer gained prominence through his numerous contributions to organic and biological chemistry. For his work in chemistry he was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1912.

Addresses to Prince of Wales
Ottawa, July 17.—It is officially announced that addresses for presentation to the Prince of Wales during his forthcoming visit to Canada should begin as follows:

"To His Royal Highness, Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom; Duke of Cornwall, in the Peerage of England; Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron of Renfrew, in the Peerage of Scotland; Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland and K.G., G.M.M.G., M.C., etc., etc. May it please Your Royal Highness, etc."

The address should end as follows: "We have the honor to be, Sir, 'Your Royal Highness' Most Obedient Servants."

Drafts of addresses, which should not ordinarily exceed four paragraphs in length, should be sent in not later than August 1 to the Governor-General's Secretary, Ottawa.

CREATED AN EMBASSY.
Rome, July 17.—The Italian Legation in Belgium has been raised to the rank of an Embassy.

MAY BE MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR; HON. J. A. CALDER

CHINESE WISH TO BE IN THE LEAGUE

Two Leaders Now in States Urge Peking to Resist Japan's Demands

New York, July 17.—After arriving here today from Paris en route to China, Dr. H. K. Kung and T. H. Hsu, who carried the protest of the people of China to their delegates at the Peace Conference, urging them not to accede to the proposed grant of the Shantung Peninsula to Japan, announced they would proceed immediately to Washington to confer with Senators "interested in the Chinese-Japanese situation."

"China wants to sign the treaty so she may become a member of the League of Nations," said Mr. Hsu. "China is still at war technically, with Germany and must make a separate peace."

The Chinese delegates at the Peace Conference held several audiences with the Big Three at the beginning of the conference, but afterwards their requests for audiences were refused. We appreciate the efforts of President Wilson in behalf of China, but his hands were tied.

"When we reach our country we intend to advise the Government to refuse to carry out the twenty-one demands of Japan, which, if carried out in full, would enable Japan to control all of China."

BOSTON AND NEARBY TOWNS ARE TIED UP BY STREET CAR STRIKE

Boston, July 17.—Car service on the street, subway and elevated lines here and in twelve adjacent cities and towns was tied up today by a strike of 8,000 union employees of the Boston Elevated Railway system.

The strikers demand an eight-hour day and a wage of 73 1/2 cents an hour.

PROFESSOR FISCHER DIES IN BERLIN

Berlin, July 16, via London, July 17.—Emil Fischer, Professor of Chemistry in the University of Berlin, is dead.

Professor Fischer gained prominence through his numerous contributions to organic and biological chemistry. For his work in chemistry he was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1912.

Addresses to Prince of Wales
Ottawa, July 17.—It is officially announced that addresses for presentation to the Prince of Wales during his forthcoming visit to Canada should begin as follows:

"To His Royal Highness, Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom; Duke of Cornwall, in the Peerage of England; Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron of Renfrew, in the Peerage of Scotland; Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland and K.G., G.M.M.G., M.C., etc., etc. May it please Your Royal Highness, etc."

AREAS OF OCCUPATION IN ASIA MINOR BEING DEFINED BY COUNCIL

Greek and Italian Forces Will Withdraw Behind Line to Be Fixed; This Will Prevent Clashes; Greece Has 65,000 Troops in Country

Paris, July 17.—The Council of Five met today to hear reports from M. Venizelos, Premier of Greece, and the Italian representatives as to a line in Southern Asia Minor behind which the Greek and Italian Governments are willing to withdraw their forces. The Council will decide whether their plans are satisfactory.

This line will be merely temporary and will in no way affect the final boundary. It will be merely a means of quieting the situation and preventing clashes.

The proposal that a line be fixed was made yesterday when the situation was brought up before the Council. M. Venizelos yesterday expressed the willingness of the Greeks to withdraw somewhat. He said Greece was maintaining 65,000 troops in Asia Minor and desired to lessen this force.

A decision was reported by the Council to insert a clause in the Austrian treaty providing that Italy may have the privilege within five years, if she so desires, to have the Austrians build railways at Italy's expense through the Reschen and Predil Passes, the profits accruing from the railways to go to Italy.

German Prisoners.
Bern, July 17.—The last of the German prisoners interned in Switzerland will be sent home shortly. The Swiss Government has arranged with the Allies to repatriate the Germans, who number about 3,000.

Socialist Conferences.
Bern, July 17.—Another international Socialist conference, which will be held at Amsterdam on July 26, is being organized by the Socialist committee at Amsterdam and probably will be held at Lucerne next month. Camille Huysmans, secretary of the Socialist International, will come to Switzerland shortly to prepare for the opening of the Lucerne conference on August 19.

Ontario Farmer Who Killed a Marauder Fell Dead in Court

Collingwood, Ont., July 17.—Under especially peculiar circumstances, a double tragedy was enacted here yesterday. It began on the farm of Amos Sherrick, on the outskirts of the town, shortly yesterday morning when Sherrick shot and killed a young man named John Mooney, whom he had found in his pignet. It ended with the sudden death of Sherrick in the police court while he was standing before Police Magistrate Hogg to listen to the formal charge of murder, which had been laid against him by the police.

Sherrick was sixty-five years old and had been a resident of the town for many years. The report of the death of Mooney undoubtedly caused Sherrick's death.

ADDRESSES TO PRINCE OF WALES

Instructions Issued at Ottawa As to Wording of Documents

Ottawa, July 17.—It is officially announced that addresses for presentation to the Prince of Wales during his forthcoming visit to Canada should begin as follows:

"To His Royal Highness, Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom; Duke of Cornwall, in the Peerage of England; Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron of Renfrew, in the Peerage of Scotland; Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland and K.G., G.M.M.G., M.C., etc., etc. May it please Your Royal Highness, etc."

The address should end as follows: "We have the honor to be, Sir, 'Your Royal Highness' Most Obedient Servants."

Drafts of addresses, which should not ordinarily exceed four paragraphs in length, should be sent in not later than August 1 to the Governor-General's Secretary, Ottawa.

CREATED AN EMBASSY.
Rome, July 17.—The Italian Legation in Belgium has been raised to the rank of an Embassy.

Madrid, July 17.—The neutrals, which Spain maintained during the war has belittled her in the eyes of the other powers, declared Senor Perez-Caballero, former Spanish Ambassador to France, in a speech in the Senate yesterday during the debate on the reply to the message from the crown delivered at the recent re-opening of the Cortes.

The Government's policy had been set forth entirely too vaguely he insisted.

TRADE OF CANADA SHOWS A DECLINE

Ottawa, July 17.—The summary of Canadian trade for the first three months of the fiscal year ending on June 30, just issued by the Customs Department shows that the trade of Canada, decreased $59,108,602, as compared with the corresponding period a year ago.

The grand total of Canada's trade for the first three months of this year was $455,746,463, while in 1918 it amounted to $514,855,065. The decline was largely in imports; the total value of the merchandise entered for customs this year being $200,615,514, while last year it amounted to $250,527,808, or a decline of $49,912,294.

The domestic exports during the three months period this year were $224,096,758, a decrease of $14,574,051 when compared with the total of 1918, which was $238,673,479.

TRANSFER OF MALMEDY.

Paris, July 17.—Baron von Lerner, head of the German delegation, sent to the Inter-Allied Council yesterday, a note stating the German Government wished to discuss arrangements for the transfer of Malmédy, a town of Rhineland Prussia, awarded to Belgium by the terms of the peace treaty.

SEEKING HOMES FOR BRITISH WOMEN

Miss Pott, Representing British Board of Agriculture, Visits Cowichan

Duncan, July 17.—Miss Pott, of the British Board of Agriculture, and Miss Girdler, of the Royal Air Force, returned to Victoria yesterday after spending a few days in Cowichan on a mission of inquiry as to the openings for the employment of women who will come from overseas next year.

The British Government has undertaken to pay the passage of the women of the various war services who can find suitable employment in Canada after the demobilization of the services. Miss Pott has to make a report to the British Government from Canada as a whole as to the openings available for such women.

Miss Pott was charmed with the climatic conditions and scenery of Cowichan and with the kindly hospitality she received on all sides, and is of the opinion that the soil, general conditions, and social life of Cowichan should offer splendid opportunities for women who wish to take up the lighter forms of farming on their own responsibility. The establishment of hostels as centres from which these women will radiate is in the hands of the Government of Canada. Many of the women who wish to come out are experienced domestics, and it is hoped that some of them will find occupation in Cowichan.

Miss Girdler, who accompanies Miss Pott, had considerable experience in connection with the immigration of women in the years before the war, as she worked in conjunction with the British Women's Immigration Society.

It is interesting to note that all British women's immigration societies have amalgamated, and are managed by the Government.

During their stay in Cowichan these ladies have sought almost every source of information, as to the occupation open to women and the conditions of home life of the district.

This year sees bumper crops of hay, now being harvested in perfect condition. The present dry weather is an ideal for hay making as the rainfall earlier was for its growth.

MOHAMMANS WORSTED BY GURKHA TROOPS

Simla, India, July 16.—Via London, July 17.—(Reuters).—A body of Mohammands who were trying to ambush Gurkha troops, were surprised by Gurkhas, who had climbed a hill unperceived. The enemy fled, but the Gurkhas, realizing they were largely outnumbered, returned to the crest of the hill, from which they rolled down boulders on the enemy.

Short range firing ensued and finally the Gurkhas retook the hill, killing many of the enemy. The Gurkhas, who were surprised by the Mohammands, who had climbed a hill unperceived, were surprised by Gurkhas, who had climbed a hill unperceived.

NIGHT WATCHMAN RELATES THE FACTS ABOUT HIS TROUBLE

Was So Run-down His Strength and Energy Had
Results From Tanlac

"This is absolutely the finest medicine I have ever run across," said John Kelly, night watchman for Cushing Brothers, living at 1510 Albert Street, Regina, as he purchased his second bottle of Tanlac at the Kelly drug store, recently.

"Before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac," he continued, "I commenced to strain right up. In fact, my very first dose made me feel better and knew right then I had found what I needed. I had begun to fear I would never get over the effects of an attack of the flu, which left me with no appetite and no energy. My nerves played-out that I was unfit for anything. I couldn't eat much and had no relish for what little I did force down. I wasn't sleeping at all well, often having headaches, and lost a great deal in weight. My strength and energy all left me, felt tired all the time, and the least exercise would exhaust me completely.

"I finally got interested in Tanlac from hearing so many people talk about it. So I bought a bottle and, as I said, I felt good results from the very first dose. In a few days my appetite returned, and my nerves quieted down so I could sleep soundly and get up feeling rested. I had no idea such wonderful results could come from a medicine in so short a time. I have never been so surprised for I had little faith in Tanlac to help me. Really, I didn't believe half what I heard about it, but now I know for myself that will do all they say it will. My appetite is so big now that I can hardly get enough to eat, and I have gained five pounds on my first bottle of Tanlac. The headaches and that tired feeling have left me, and work is no trial for me any more. Before I got Tanlac I was hardly able to make my rounds, but I have been built up and strengthened already until I feel as well as I ever did, if not better. Just give me Tanlac and you may have all the other men in my opinion there's nothing like it."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas—Advt.

ALLIED EXCHANGE AT LOWEST POINT YET AT NEW YORK

New York, July 17.—Absence of a short account, with a heavy influx of commercial cotton and grain bills resulting from the approach of the crop-harvesting season, were the reasons attributed yesterday for further violent declines in the foreign exchange market, when sterling and francs fell to the lowest quotations ever recorded here, while the Italian rate approximated the low point made during the war.

According to bankers conversant with existing conditions, still further declines may be expected unless steps are taken speedily to stabilize the market. One large dealer in foreign exchange declared he would not be surprised to see British gold move gold to this centre to improve the situation, as she did in 1916, provided she can spare the metal.

Large shipments of grain, cotton and dried fruits are going to the United Kingdom, he said, and nothing is being received in return.

Rates of all neutral European countries, including Spain and the Baltic, declined yesterday, moved in favor of this market, with moderate rallies after the pressure of offerings relaxed.

BOLSHEVIKI WERE REPULSED BY BRITISH

London, July 17.—The following communication was issued by the British Operations on the Murmansk front in Russia:

"On July 14 500 Bolsheviki attacked our garrison at Zivdiya. They were beaten off after an engagement of an hour and a half and retreated southward, burning bridges.

The enemy suffered considerable losses. Our pursuing force picked up twenty-six dead and many wounded. We suffered no casualties.

Partisans to the West of Lake Onega attacked Bolsheviki who had landed on the Shunga Peninsula, killing many of them."

TELLS INSPECTORS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due to the use of a little too much of the hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either of the following things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding such foods as meat, bread, butter, sugar, and fat, and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation of the food.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable means of doing this than by the use of a little of the powder of a couple of five-grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acid which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the food is digested naturally and healthfully without need of poison pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Disated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the disated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

NORTHERN HAY FOR PRAIRIE CATTLE

Ottawa Makes Proposals For Feeding of Animals in Needy Areas

Ottawa, July 17.—To relieve the stock raisers in the dry areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan whose herds are threatened through scarcity of feed, the Federal Government has submitted two proposals to the Provincial Governments interested. It is proposed to cut hay on the Dominion lands in the north, bale it and ship it south to feed the cattle, or to send the cattle from the southern areas to the hay lands of the north, where moisture has been adequate and grass is abundant. To carry out either of these proposals or one proposal in part and the other in part, the Dominion Government has proposed to the provincial authorities that cost of securing and moving the hay and cattle be borne equally by the Dominion Government, the Provincial Governments, the railway companies and the stock owners.

Another proposal for division of the expense is that it be borne equally by the Dominion Government, the Provincial Governments and the railway companies. This latter plan probably will be adopted, as the stock owners may not be in a financial position to assume any part of the cost.

The Alberta authorities have signified their willingness to co-operate, and it is believed will advise that the whole expense be borne by the Dominion and the Provincial Governments and the railway companies.

Manitoba to Buy.

Winnipeg, July 17.—As a result of the present crisis in the cattle industry in Alberta, where there has been a total failure of hay and other fodder crops, leaving, according to reports, approximately 150,000 head of cattle without food, the Manitoba Department of Agriculture has decided to purchase between 25,000 and 30,000 head for the farmers of this province. Action by the Government was initiated by Hon. Van Winkle, Minister of Agriculture, yesterday.

French Government NOW IS ATTACKING COST OF LIVING

Paris, July 17.—The Government's bill intended to reduce the cost of living in France is before the Chamber of Deputies.

The previous law against speculation included a clause by which it was to expire three months after the cessation of hostilities. In the bill this clause is now prolonged to three years and the penalties increased.

Speculation may be punished by imprisonment from two months to two years and a fine of from 500 to 50,000 francs. If it affects food, drinks, heat, clothes or shoes, the prison term is raised to three years and the fine to 100,000 francs.

The penalties may be further raised to five years' imprisonment and 200,000 francs if the merchandise is not such as the accused person regularly deals in.

The posting of prices which are enforced for restaurants is extended to hotels and also to rooms, heating materials, shoes and clothes.

Four definite measures intended to reduce the cost of living were decided upon yesterday at a meeting of the cabinet. A commissioner was appointed to execute the ideas agreed upon.

The four plans are:

1. "Clemenceau" or "Vigilant" food-selling booths in Paris, which doubled in number, and others will

NO PROSECUTION OF SIR EDWARD CARSON FOR RECENT SPEECH

London, July 17.—By a vote of 117 to 75, the House of Commons last night rejected a motion by John R. Clynes, a Laborite, urging the Government to prosecute Sir Edward Carson for his recent speech in which he had accused the Government of "violence and breach of the law."

The speech was one Carson made last Saturday in which there was a reference to a calling out of the Irish Volunteers to resist any attempt to place the Home Rule Act in operation.

The debate in the House turned on a legal point, in which the Attorney-General said that Sir Edward Carson had committed no offence under the law.

Mr. Clynes said there were many poor illiterate men now in prison for saying less harmful things than Carson had said. It was the Government's duty to see that the law was equitably enforced.

Mr. Clynes described Sir Edward as another day with the "arch-apostle of direct action." Lord Hugh Cecil and other Unionist members condemned Carson's remarks as indefensible.

The Attorney-General, Sir Gordon Hewart, said that the allegation that Sir Edward Carson's speeches incited to a breach of the law and violence had broken down. There was nothing in the speech in question upon which it was possible to found legal proceedings, he said. The passage referring to the calling out of volunteers, he added, was hypothetical, and contingent on Ulster people being deprived of their rights as British subjects, and this nobody proposed to do.

BRITISH ENTERTAIN GENERAL PERSHING

London, July 17.—The Government gave a dinner in honor of Gen. John J. Pershing and his staff last night. The guests included Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, who presided; Gen. Sir Henry Seymour Rawlinson, commander of the Fifth British Army; Gen. Henry S. Horne, commander of the Second British Army; Lieut. Gen. William Riddell Birdwood, commander of the Australian and New Zealand troops in France, and other prominent British officers.

Gen. Pershing and his staff were presented to the King and Queen at a garden party at Buckingham Palace yesterday afternoon. The American Ambassador, John W. Davis, and other members of the diplomatic corps also were present.

WORK ON P.G.E. IS BEING RUSHED

Vancouver, July 17.—By the first of September, Pacific Great Eastern engines will pull past Mile 150 to divisional headquarters at Williams Lake. This is the prediction of George E. Macdonald, general manager of the P. G. E., who has just returned from a trip of inspection.

Mr. Macdonald bases his prediction on the fact that tracklaying is now going on at the rate of from a mile and a half to two miles a day. Maintaining this rate, it should not be a hard matter to complete the road to the above point this season. In fact, it is expected that thirty-four miles of the new line between Chiam and Mile 93 will be turned over to the operating department this week.

Accompanying Mr. Macdonald on his trip were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Proctor, and they went as far north as Quesnel. Mr. Macdonald speaks with great enthusiasm of the northern country, and predicts that 100,000 people will pour in there before another year is out.

Here Is Your Recipe Mrs. Forbes

Here is the way Pacific Milk whips best:
Put a small tin in water and heat to the boiling point. Then put on ice and chill thoroughly.
Have a bowl on the ice getting cold.
When the tin is chilled open it and pour milk into the cold bowl, placed in another bowl of cracked ice.
Beat in the ordinary way, and in less than five minutes you'll have delicious whipped cream.
If it is not too much trouble we would be glad to know how you like it.
We will furnish any other recipes upon request.

IRISH SITUATION.

London, July 17.—The British Government does not regard the action of the United States Senate with respect to Ireland or the acts in the same connection of other persons or bodies representing the American people as in violation of Article X. of the League of Nations covenant, said Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, the Government leader in the House of Commons, yesterday in answer to a question.

The Government, Mr. Bonar Law added, would not put the question of the future government of Ireland on the programme for consideration at the next meeting of the council of the League of Nations.

AUSTRIA'S FOOD REQUEST.

Paris, July 17.—The Austrian peace delegation has sent a request to the Supreme Council of the Allies that the revictualing of Austria, which was interrupted on July 1, be resumed and continued throughout August and September.

NO CANADIANS IN LONDON PARADE

No Fighting Units Available For Big Victory Event on Saturday

London, July 17.—As there has appeared in the official programme for the great Victory Day celebration here on Saturday no reference to Canadian troops participating, Canadian Headquarters has issued a statement saying that an invitation to supply a Canadian contingent for the parade was received, but it was found impossible to accept it, as all the Canadian fighting units have returned to Canada. The only Canadians left are married men at Buxton and certain odd detachments for mopping up duties.

Irish Nationalists.
Dublin, July 17.—The Irish National Association, composed largely of followers of the late John Redmond who fought during the war, decided yesterday that its members would not march in the Victory parade in London on Saturday. It has been announced officially that they would participate in the celebration and many had given their names, promising attendance. The change of attitude, it was said, was made known after Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, said in a telegram to Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for War, that he (Viscount French) would "take the salute along with members of the Irish Government and other officials" reviewing the parade.

PRINCE OF WALES TO LEAVE BRITAIN FOR CANADA AUGUST 5

London, July 17.—(Reuters)—Rt. Hon. Walter Long announced in the Commons yesterday that the Prince of Wales would embark for Canada on H. M. S. Renown at Portsmouth on August 5.

The Prince will visit St. John, Nfld., thence proceeding on a light cruiser to St. John, N. B., and Charlottetown, where he will re-embark on the Renown and proceed to Halifax.

BULGAR DELEGATES IN PARIS NEXT WEEK

Terms Allies Will Have Bulgaria Sign Will Be Presented

Paris, July 17.—The Bulgarian delegation which is to receive the peace terms of the Allies will arrive in Paris, July 25. The delegation will comprise the following: General Theodoroff, Foreign Minister, president of the delegation; Dr. Sakaroff, Minister of Commerce, Industry and Labor; M. Ganeff, Minister of Justice; M. Spantoulis, Minister of Public Works; M. Saranov, Minister of Finance. Six councillors will be attached, among them Prof. Stephen Panaroff, Minister to the United States. There will be thirty-five persons in the delegation.

Trials.
The Responsibilities Commission yesterday considered special clauses to be inserted in the Bulgarian treaty, principally as to whether Bulgarian officials and officers charged with atrocities in Serbia, Greece and Roumania shall be tried by local tribunals or by an inter-Allied tribunal.

It also was decided that a British officer shall direct the plebiscite in Schleswig, as the British navy is playing the most important part in enforcing treaty conditions there. The French will direct the carrying out of the treaty terms on the West Polish frontier.

The Council announced yesterday that it will be imperative to have inter-Allied commissions in Silesia and at various points on the Polish frontier when the peace treaty actually becomes effective, in order to prevent disorder.

Members of the Allied peace delegations seem confident that the difficulties between the Poles and Germans can be adjusted so as to have the plebiscite held in Upper Silesia without the necessity of using foreign military forces. Plans for the plebiscite are being perfected rapidly.

Occupied Area.
Von Stark has been named by the German Government as its commissioner in the administration of the occupied area of the Rhineland provinces. Announcement of this appointment was made yesterday in a note to the Inter-Allied Council.

Von Stark recently appointed Governor of the occupied area and went to Coblenz. There he sought to persuade the Inter-Allied Commission to deal with the Rhineland organizations through him. He spent four days in Coblenz, but it was said, received little encouragement.

READY TO CELEBRATE PEACE DAY AT DUNCAN

Duncan, July 15.—Those present at the meeting called on Monday to arrange for the official celebration of peace on Saturday, July 19, were: T. Pitt, Reeve J. L. Mutter, Miss Monk and the Messrs. Dwyer, Wilmet, H. Savage and the Rev. Father Schulan. It was proposed that on Friday at midnight there would be the ringing of bells, the blowing of sirens and processions and parades in Duncan. A basket picnic and aquatic sports at Maple Bay will be another feature. All who have cars are asked to take soldiers and their friends to the Bay. The G. W. V. A. will be asked to assist.

For the evening diversion C. Stoney was asked to arrange a good baseball game in the agricultural grounds.

ROWELL IN OKANAGAN.

Vernon, July 17.—Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Dominion Privy Council, arrived here yesterday, and spent several weeks on his fruit farm near Okanagan Centre.

NEW CENTRE PARTY LLOYD GEORGE'S PLAN

He Is Said to Be Working to Make Coalition Permanent

London, July 17.—A sensation has been caused in political circles by the news that Colonel the Rt. Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for War, who has just returned from visiting Mr. Lloyd George at Criccieth, delivered a speech at a dinner in the West End, at which more than 100 members of the House of Commons were present, urging the necessity for a new and permanent coalition party, to be rechristened "the Centre Party." The dinner was organized quietly, and only became known of when some of the diners returned to the House. It appears that Colonel Churchill, speaking as a disciple of Mr. Lloyd George, spoke of the new party in political differences, and emphasized the necessity for a continued combination of the moderates among the Unionists and Liberals in order to preserve what had been won in the war. Colonel Churchill insisted that co-operation was necessary in order to fight Bolshevism.

The supper speakers included the chief Coalition Liberal and Unionist whips. The Lord Chancellor referred sympathetically to the future of the Labor Party, but some speculation exists as to the new party's attitude of alliance or opposition toward the saner Labor elements.

Carefully Planned.
According to The Daily Mail's version, Colonel Churchill, speaking apparently on behalf of Mr. Lloyd George, urged the formation of a permanent Coalition or Centre Party. No official details were announced afterwards, but the gathering evidently was most important and carefully planned, according to the paper. A hundred members of Parliament were present, including Lord Birkenhead, Captain Guest, Chief Liberal Whip, and Sir George Younger, Chief Unionist Whip.

Colonel Churchill urged the moderates of all parties to combine. He did not indicate the definite policy of the new party except the nationalization of monopolies, presumably the coal mines and transportation. Lord Birkenhead also spoke, warning that the Coalition must not overlook the possibility of a Labor Government.

PLANNING FOR SHOW TO BE HELD IN FALL

Cowichan Agricultural Society Discusses Financial Standing

Duncan, July 16.—A well attended and enthusiastic meeting was held last night in the Agricultural Hall at the call of the directors of the Cowichan Agricultural Society to discuss ways and means. About 100 were present.

The president, C. J. V. Spratt, was in the chair, and in his address urged those present to take an unflinching interest in the work of the Agricultural Society. The Cowichan show had a most enviable reputation, and was the best means of advertisement for the individual farmer and also for the community. The $750 grant from the Government be considered very inadequate and out of all proportion to the merits of the show.

Dr. Rutherford laid the financial standing of the society clearly before the meeting, urging an increased membership, which should be fully 500, and appealed for support towards the prize fund, and stated that while during war time the directors had strained every effort to keep the show going, they could not always be acting as philanthropists to an apathetic public. Dr. Rutherford pointed out that an increased membership would mean an increased grant.

Mr. Pitt advocated making some arrangement with the mortgagee to take over the property and letting the society start afresh.

The chairman stated that if the local organization raised $2,500 a prize money the Federal Government would make a grant of $2,500 to the same fund.

W. Dwyer remarked that if it could be possible to devise some scheme to use the building continuously, the financial difficulties would be over. Mr. Spratt stated that to put the building in shape would cost a considerable amount but if the necessary funds were subscribed he would donate the lumber.

Various ways of clearing off the debt were suggested by A. Peterson, W. Bazett, R. E. Barclay, Crossland, W. H. Elkington and Ruscombe Poole. The following committees were chosen to canvass the district for members: G. H. Haiwen, W. Bazett and Tants, for Maple Bay; R. E. Barclay, for Westholme; P. W. Ankettell Jones, for Chemung; W. Peterson, Bishop and Burnett, south of the river; C. G. Palmer and R. Poole, Quamichan Lake; Major Mutter and G. Tiedall, Somenos. Each of these committees is to have power to add.

Mr. Rolston. of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, addressed the meeting explaining the scheme to obtain training for the men not sufficiently versed in agriculture and who wanted to go on the land under Government auspices. Mr. Rolston made an appeal to the farmers present to assist in the training.

At a directors' meeting held afterwards it was decided to hold the fall show.

CONCILIATION BOARD.

Ottawa, July 17.—The Minister of Labor has appointed a board of conciliation to deal with the dispute between about 20 master bakers of Toronto and their bread drivers. There are about 600 men directly affected and 800 indirectly involved in the dispute. The men were on strike, but have now gone back to work.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Carpet

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Bang! Bang! Bang! Whack! Whack! Whack!"
That was the noise Uncle Wiggily heard one morning as he awakened in his hollow stump bungalow.
"Hello, Nurse Jane!" called Mr. Longears to his musty lady housekeeper. "The bell must be broken, and some one is knocking at the door! Don't you hear them?"
"That isn't any one knocking!" laughed Miss Fussy Wussy. "I was just tacking down the parlor carpet, which you so kindly cleaned for me yesterday. While I was waiting for you to come to your breakfast of broiled lettuce pancakes, with maple sugar gravy on, I thought I'd tack down the carpet. I hope I didn't wake you up."
"That wouldn't matter," the bunny rabbit said, as he stretched his ears and pinked his twink nose. "It is time I was up, anyhow. And Nurse Jane, tacking down parlor carpets is too hard work for you. 'Let me do it.'"
"It is a bit hard," admitted Nurse Jane.
"Then finish getting my breakfast, if you please," said Uncle Wiggily, as he came downstairs, and I'll finish tacking the carpet after I have eaten."
It did not take Mr. Longears a great while to eat his breakfast. Not that he ate too fast, but he did not waste much time reading the paper that morning. He was anxious to begin tacking down the carpet.
"What! Bang! Bang!"
That was Uncle Wiggily hammering tacks in the floor to hold the carpet down so it wouldn't dance all over when the phonograph played a fox trot for the legs of the chairs.
"Bang! Hammer! What!" went the bunny rabbit gentleman. Nurse Jane came and looked in the parlor door.
"You'll be busy here for some little time yet, won't you, Uncle Wiggily?" she asked.
"Oh, yes," replied the bunny. "It will take me an hour more to finish tacking the carpet. Where are you going?"
"Just over to call on Mrs. Stubtail, the lady bear," answered Miss Fussy Wussy. "She has a new way of making cherry pie with prunes, and I want to learn."
"Please do," begged Uncle Wiggily. "I love cherry pie." So while he kept on tacking the carpet Nurse Jane went down the street to see Mrs. Stubtail.
Uncle Wiggily sat in the middle of the parlor floor, tacking down the carpet. He had the tacks in a little dish beside him, and he pulled them around with him wherever he went, like riding tiny black ants on a sled.
All of a sudden, as Mr. Longears was putting in the last few tacks, some one opened the parlor door.
"Why, you are back earlier than I looked for you, Nurse Jane," said the bunny rabbit, without looking up. "Are you going to give me some prune-cherry pie?"

"No, but you are going to give me some soup! That is what you are going to give me!" cried an unpleasant voice, and looking up in surprise, Uncle Wiggily saw the bad old fox.
"Oh, don't think you can get away!" snickered the fox, as he sat down on the newly-tacked carpet beside Uncle Wiggily. "Nurse Jane isn't here to save you. I saw her go out. That's why I came in. Now I'm going to take you off to my den and bite some off your ears!"
Uncle Wiggily shivered. He looked at the fox and saw that the bad chap was wearing a long-tailed coat. Then Uncle Wiggily looked at the tacks he had left and at the hammer. Uncle Wiggily suddenly had an idea.
"Before you take me away," he said, "will you kindly let me finish tacking this carpet?"
"Yes, but be quick about it!" growled the fox, hitching along on the floor where he sat, so as to be close to the fox's fore. The long tails of the coat the fox wore were spread out on the floor.
"Bang! Hammer! Whack!" went Uncle Wiggily hammering in the tacks. "Bang! Hammer! Whack!"
"Well, I guess that carpet is finished!" growled the fox, after a bit. "Now come along with me!"
The fox tried to get up, but he couldn't! He pulled and tugged, but something held him fast to the floor.
"Hi, there! What's the matter?" barked the fox.
"Oh, nothing much!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped out of the parlor. "I only just tacked you fast to the floor by your coat tails!" he said. "And there you'll stay until I get the policeman dog to arrest you! I can tack down coat tails as well as a carpet! You're fast, Mr. Fox."
And so the fox was, and soon a policeman dog came, got him loose with a tack-puller and arrested the bad chap. Then Uncle Wiggily finished tacking the carpet and all was well. And if the goldfish doesn't get all wet when it tries to bring in a pail of water for the sponge cake's birthday party I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the tickly grass.

PERFECTLY SURE.

"Bum," said a ducky, "I'd like to sit off next Saturday for the day."
"What for?" inquired the employer.
"Got to go to a funeral."
"Whose funeral is it?"
"My uncle's."
"When did your uncle die?"
"Last night, he ain't dead yet!"
"Then how do you know his funeral is going to take place on Saturday?"
"Ca'ee dey's grine hang him Friday."

A graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital class of 1915, Miss Sangster almost immediately entered the military service, being at Rosthern and the Shaughnessy Heights Military Hospitals. After reaching England she was appointed to duty at No. 13 Hospital at Hastings and later at Basildon. She accompanied the C. A. M. C. with the latter hospital unit, receiving her discharge at Toronto. Her brother, Alex. Sangster, returned home last week after service with the Imperial forces.

SAANICH NURSING-HOME FILLS WANT

At a meeting of the executive of the Saanich branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses held last night, it was announced that the association was moving home on Quadra Street had already justified its establishment and was filling a long-felt want in the district. It is hoped to have an operating table installed in the very near future, and already there are several small patients awaiting surgical treatment for minor defects.

The proposed new health centre was discussed, Reeve Jones declaring that the time was ripe for some active steps to be taken in the matter of its establishment, the meeting decided to call a special meeting at the hall at Royal Oak on July 24, when definite plans will be discussed and a plan of campaign for the raising of the necessary funds considered.

FRIENDLY HELP APPEALS FOR POOR

An urgent appeal is made by the Friendly Help Association for children's clothing for several very needy cases. Every article of clothing for dresses for little girls between the ages of eight and twelve years, as well as for other articles of clothing. There has been an absence this year of the generous gifts of fruit and vegetables to the association, such as have marked previous summers. The ever-increasing cost of living works much hardship upon the poor and needy, many families having to go without the fresh vegetables and fruit so essential to health. It has been suggested that in the hour of peace celebration, the citizens of Victoria remember the poor in their midst and show their sympathy by extending a helping hand to those in less fortunate circumstances.

Donations should be sent to Miss Lawson at the Friendly Help rooms, over the Market Building.

NOT THAT KIND.

"Griggs and his wife are not getting along very smoothly, I hear," said Brown to Smith.

"No," replied Smith, "and you can't wonder at it. He married a girl that looked like a magazine cover and then expected her to work like a cook-book."

WEDDING YESTERDAY

AT CHRIST CHURCH

Miss "Lollie" Neal Married to Francis John Drake, of Nanaimo

Brilliant sunshine imparted a radiance to the wedding at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday afternoon of Alice ("Lollie") Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Neal, of 1014 Quadra Street, to Francis John Drake, engineer of S. S. Charmer and son of the late Sheriff Drake, of Nanaimo. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. C. de V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, at 2:15 p. m., in the presence of a large gathering of friends of the young couple.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, "Bonnie" Neal, who has returned from overseas service, and as she approached the altar the organ rang out in the strains of the Bridal March from "Lohengrin." Her lovely gown was of white crepe de chine and silver lace with court train, the flowing veil caught by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. Miss Dorothy Neal, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing in Copenhagen blue crepe de chine with becoming picture hat en suite, and little Melba Neal made a winsome flower girl in "dainty" frock of pink and white. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Sam Drake.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests to the number of forty returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held and dainty luncheon was served. The house was beautifully arranged with masses of pink and white flowers. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls; to the bridesmaid and flower girl, brooches, and to the best man, cuff-links. Mr. and Mrs. Drake left on the 4:30 boat on a honeymoon trip to the Sound cities.

Nursing Sister Victoria Eraut Returns From Long Service Overseas

Nursing Sister Victoria Eraut, an original member of No. 5 Base Hospital, returned to the city on Saturday last after four years' nursing service overseas. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Eraut, of Donald Street, the Gorge, Miss Eraut was on the nursing staff at the Jubilee Hospital before going overseas, and prior to that was attached to the staff at the hospital at Albert.

Volunteering for service with No. 5 Base Hospital, she went with that famous unit to Salonica, serving there for a lengthy period before returning to England, when she was appointed to duty at the military hospital at Kirkdale, Liverpool. Later she was sent to France, and was for a long time stationed at Le Havre. She is receiving a warm welcome from her many friends in this city.

PEACE PARADE IS NOW WELL OUTLINED

Official Notice of Arrangements Is Furnished; Rules Laid Down

The following is the official programme in connection with the Peace Day parade to be held on Saturday morning:

Time of parade—10 o'clock sharp. Route—Yates to Government Street, through Peace Arch on Causeway, up Menzies to Niagara and to Beacon Hill Park.

At Park—reading of Peace Proclamation by Mayor; speech by Lieut. Governor and Premier.

Music by Massed Band.

Place of assembly for Procession: Naval and Military Units on Yates Street on the slope below the Central School. Cards setting out the space for each Unit will be displayed on the trees on the Boulevards. All Units to be in positions by 9.45 a. m.

Markers must be there at 9.30. The cars of the Prime Minister, the Mayor of the City, the Consul, the Reeves of the Municipalities will be asked to assemble on the right hand side of Yates Street (near the curb) opposite Central School.

The Personal Organizations parading will assemble in the grounds of the Central School.

All those who assemble on Camosun Street, behind the Yates Street firehall, stringing back to the High School if necessary.

Citizens are asked not to have private motor cars anywhere near where the procession is forming up in order to prevent congestion, for it is anticipated there will be many hundred cars actually in the parade and these all have to be shifted about to get into proper place.

It is distinctly understood that no private automobiles will be allowed in the procession or to follow it, except those as part of floats which have been duly entered.

Major George Nicholson, M.C., is acting as marshal, assisted by Major Stanley Okeil, M.C.

The Times has been asked to print the following notices to ex-service men:

All members of the 16th Battalion, Canadian Scottish, who can join the Military parade on Saturday, are requested to report to Major Hope at 9.30 a. m. that day on Yates Street, by the Central School. Uniforms should be worn if possible, but members in civilian clothes will also march with the Battalion.

29th Battalion.

It is earnestly hoped that every former member of the 29th Battalion in Victoria and vicinity will take part in the military parade in connection with the Peace Celebration on Saturday.

day, 19th instant, marching as a unit and helping to make the parade worthy of the great historical event that is intended to be celebrated. Place of Assembly—Top of Yates Street, near Fort. Time—9.30 a. m. Saturday, July 19. Fall in—9.45 a. m. Move off—10.00 a. m. Uniform—If available, to be worn. All Pipers and Drummers willing to take part in the parade are requested to report to the new Drill Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

EX-MAYOR OF NEW YORK IS VISITOR TO CITY DURING TOUR

Lieut. Col. B. McClellan, ex-Mayor of New York, who is one of few surviving past heads of the second largest municipal government in the world, is now in the city with Mrs. McClellan.

The ex-Mayor, who has been staying in the mountains, is delighted with this city, and in fact with his tour. He expressed himself as more than satisfied with the Pacific Northwest during a brief chat with The Times last evening. He explained that the tour is entirely one of pleasure.

Col. McClellan, who is a son of the famous general of Civil War fame, has been both a leader of the Democratic party in New York, where he was president of the board of aldermen, and Mayor from 1903 to 1909, and also a representative in Congress from New York City. Col. McClellan was newspaper man and lawyer before entering public life.

The last head of the New York city government to visit Victoria was the late John Purroy Mitchell, who was killed while in training for the United States aviation corps.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF LOSS OF MEMORY

Girl Remembers Only Christian Name, "Lois," Police Investigating

An extraordinary case of loss of memory, which concerns a young woman who remembers only her Christian name, Lois, but has no recollection of her surname, is now being investigated by the Victoria Detective Department.

The appeal from the Home Service

Section of the American Red Cross asks the detective department to locate a man named Hurd under the accompanying circumstances:

May we ask your assistance in a very difficult problem which we are attempting to solve for a young woman, who has come under our notice through an accident which occurred on a steamboat between Tacoma and Seattle.

A Mental Case.

She caught her heel on the stairs of the steamship Tacoma which left Seattle at 3 o'clock on the morning of June 30 to come here. She fell to the bottom of the stairs and injured the muscles of her knee slightly. The company physician was called to see her and took her to the Tacoma Hotel when the steamer arrived here and he sent her to the Tacoma General Hospital in an ambulance. On talking with her he discovered that some time about three weeks previously she had lost her memory entirely. She recalled the two previous weeks very distinctly in every detail. She is absolutely normal in every way except for the slight injury to the knee, which has now mended considerably so that she is able to walk around, and has been discharged from the hospital. She is under our care and is being treated by Dr. Snook, a mental specialist, in the hope that she will recover her memory and recall who her people are.

Her Description.

She does not know her name except that she had a photograph of herself with the name of Lois written across the face of it. Her clothes are all American made, but have no labels which will aid our identification. She is about twenty-five years of age, slender, medium height, brown hair, very peculiar blue eyes set wide apart and turned up at the outside corners. Her teeth protrude, causing a slight lip in her speech. She is wearing a blue and black checked suit and a little round taupe hat with a brim lined with light blue. The hat is almost covered by a coarse meshed veil. Her shoes are black Oxfords and she is wearing black silk stockings. When she arrived at the hospital she had a black travelling bag that showed signs of wear, and a box of candy. The only money she had was change for $20. in the breast pocket of her coat. This was evidently money left from the purchase of her steamer ticket from Seattle to Tacoma.

Her first conscious history is located in Victoria. She says that she came to herself walking along the street in a city which she did not know. She was very tired and she sat down on a park bench. On the other end of the bench was a distinguished-looking Englishman reading a newspaper. He had attached to a chain a very small brown and white dog with long silky hair. His name is Hurd. She has had a card with his initials and his apartment address, but this card she has lost. She states that she asked him what town she was in and he became interested at once; was very kind to her, probably making an effort about looking up her identity without troubling her about it. The first thing he suggested was the kind of money she had in her purse. It proved to be all American money with four $20 gold pieces. He showed her some change out of his own pocket and explained the difference in Canadian coin. From that time he seems to have taken her in charge. He secured her a room in the house of some friends of his. He came and took her out for meals for possibly several days. Her measure of time is not clear for these first days. He took her finally to Vancouver, where she stayed for one day at the C. P. R. Hotel and apparently dined with a party of returned soldiers and ladies there at the hotel. Some time during her acquaintance with Mr. Hurd he advanced her a considerable amount of money and she gave him in exchange a new solitaire diamond ring. In addition to this ring which she was wearing she still has a wedding ring and a ruby solitaire. She says she also had a new suitcase, which she exchanged for her hand bag, and which she has in her possession. She had a photograph of herself and a photograph of a small child about two years old. These, Mr. Hurd seems to have taken to a detective friend of his in Victoria or Vancouver in an effort to have her traced. The effort, however, was futile, inasmuch as no photographer's name was on either photograph. Nothing she had about her could trace her in any way.

Went to Tacoma.

She arrived in Tacoma on June 27, and was here for two days. She went back on the 29th, Sunday, to consult Mr. Hurd in Vancouver as to his success in tracing her identity. She returned to Seattle on the night train Sunday night and immediately took the Tacoma boat in order to secure her laundry, which she had left here at the hotel. Her plan had been to go to the Washington Hotel in Seattle, learn the name of the best mental specialist in town and put herself under his care completely. She states that Mr. Hurd suggested to her the name of Gould, which she is now using. The name means nothing to her personally. She supposes that her first name is Lois on account of the fact that that name was written across her own personal photograph. She states that at Vancouver and Victoria up to the time she fell on the Tacoma steamer, she was carrying a new gold meshed bag which was attached to her wrist by a chain and which had a wicket sort of opening that drew up in a close circle which was covered by a tight fitting cap when closed. It was a long, narrow bag, just about the shape of her own personal photograph, which was in the bag. In her fall on the stairs this bag disappeared. It contained in addition to the $200 which she had received in Victoria, a locket and chain, which had apparently belonged to the child whose picture she holds; a small Catholic medal and a pullman car ticket stub. These last three articles would all of them be very valuable in tracing her identity if we could only secure the bag. The money is, of course, gone also, leaving her practically dependent upon someone's assistance until she can find a way to earn her living or remember where she belongs. We would like to say that she seems to be perfectly normal mentally in her present consciousness. In fact, we would call her mind very keen. She herself seems perfectly independent and capable of taking care of herself. She is unwilling to be dependent upon anybody. She described Mr. Hurd as a distinguished English gentleman of keen intellect. She reiterates his praises continually for the kind protecting attitude which he showed.

NANAIMO TRUSTEES

WELCOME CONFERENCE

School Board Hears Principal Charlesworth Advocate Teachers' Schedules

Principal H. Charlesworth, of this city, now President of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, took an active share in securing the adjustment of differences between the Nanaimo School Board and the teachers there. As already reported the trustees had declined to accept the suggestion of the teachers that the schedule drafted by them should be the basis of salaries paid in Nanaimo. However the result of last week's meeting will result that the hundred dollar bonus granted to each teacher will be added to the salary, and not treated as a bonus. The teachers also have the satisfaction of knowing that the School Board better appreciates their claims for greater remuneration.

Mr. Charlesworth pointed out that it had been a mistake to attempt to settle such a question through the medium of correspondence. He said many such disputes between School Boards and teachers had been recently brought to his attention especially the trouble in Victoria only a few months ago, and in every case nothing had been accomplished until a committee of teachers and trustees had conferred. He advised such a conference, stating that although School Boards alone had the power to fix salaries, there was nothing in the act to prevent them from accepting suggestions from teachers or from any outside body. He presented arguments for an increase in the Nanaimo scale, and said the schedule systems were beneficial for regulating salaries.

He stated that salaries were only part of the business of the Federation, the main object being to elevate the teaching profession, and improve educational conditions generally in British Columbia.

NO VOTE IS TAKEN ON ONE BIG UNION

Labor Council, After Discussion, Refers Question Back to Individual Unions

A lively meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night recommended to the various local unions affiliated with it that they express their attitude individually toward the constitution of the One Big Union. This result was not achieved without warm argument, a ruling from the chair that the subject should not be discussed, and an attempted vote of lack of confidence in the chairman.

When the question of the One Big Union was brought up for discussion President E. S. Woodward informed the gathering that the subject could be discussed, but that the Council could take no action. As a matter of fact, he stated, the past action of the Council regarding the One Big Union had been unconstitutional. It had now come to a time when a halt had to be called. If any of the individual unions desired to go over to the O. B. U. they could do so and withdraw their representatives from the Council. It would be impossible for the Council to endorse the O. B. U., he declared, without going over to it.

After further argument, it was moved that the Council endorse the O. B. U. This motion which was seconded, but the chairman refused to put the vote to the meeting. A vote of lack of confidence in the chairman was then moved and seconded. Though the chairman asked that this motion be put, the mover and seconder backed down, on condition that an appeal from the chairman's ruling be allowed. The chair was overruled by 13 to 15, and the discussion was allowed to continue.

The motion that the matter be referred back to the individual unions was opposed by the delegates of the District Street Railwaymen's Union, which had already voted against the One Big Union.

Removes Wrinkles and Refreshes Tired Faces

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent-tonic lotion should be used these days. Dissolve an ounce of pure powdered sassafras in a half pint of witch hazel. Rub the face in this and see how quickly the wrinkles and furrows will disappear—and how much younger you will look! There's nothing better for sagging cheeks or double chin, or for enlarged pores.

Use this simple lotion during the heat of the day and it will find it wonderfully refreshing. You will lose that wilted look. The ingredients of course are perfectly harmless. Be sure to ask the druggist for powdered sassafras.

Board of Trade Tour.—The Board of Trade tour suggested by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, will leave Victoria via G. T. P. steamer, on July 24. Quite a number of business men of Vancouver will take in the tour, but so far none of the members of the local Board of Trade have signified their intention of going. The trip includes calls at Prince Rupert, Anyers, to Prince George via the G. T. P. Railway, with stops at Telkwa and Vanderhoof. On July 31 the party will take steamer from Prince George to Quesset, thence by automobile to Lillooet, from which point a special P. C. E. train will carry the party to North Vancouver. Those intending to make the trip are asked to notify the Secretary of the Board of Trade as soon as possible.

Graduate Nurses' Association.—A meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association will be held at the Victoria Club, Campbell Building, to-morrow at 8 p.m., to discuss plans for a word competition. All members and other nurses are requested to attend.

Coming Chautauqua.—H. S. Stevenson, a member of the Victoria Chautauqua Committee, has arranged a word competition to ascertain how many words can be constructed out of the word "Chautauqua". He is offering three prizes. The terms of the competition will be found in another column of this edition.

Memorial Tablet.—In the window of T. N. Hibben & Co. may be seen a neat tablet carved in marble to the memory of William Ross Brackett, who was killed in action in France. It is to be placed in the church at Pender Island, where was his home. The bright effect of the memorial in marble is very noticeable. The tablet was executed by J. Mortimer & Son, of this city.

Next-of-Kin and Peace Parade.—The members of the Great War Next-of-Kin Association have been asked to meet at the United Service Club, Government Street, on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, where the two decorated motors will be in readiness to enter the parade. As the Association will be given a place in the line of march immediately behind the returned men it is requested that members be in their places at the Home not later than nine o'clock.

Appreciate Kindness.—The officers and members of the Inter-State Realty Convention have expressed their appreciation of the kindness extended to them by the Victoria and Island Development Association and the assistance the association has rendered in holding to make the convention a success. The Development offices were used as headquarters for some time before the Realty Convention staff moved into its present quarters, No. 4 Belmont Building.

Request Fulfilled.—The Times is requested to publish the following extract from the will of the late W. G. Stevenson, dated May 13, 1918, under which the rite at Beacon Hill yesterday was carried out by his fraternal associates: "I request that my body be cremated, and that my ashes be scattered among the dear Scottish broom on Beacon Hill in the city of Victoria, B. C., where I spent many of the happiest days of my life. I leave to the Chancellor Commander of Far West Victoria Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and ask a special favor that it be carried out to the letter. I request that no religious services be held at my funeral, charity is my only religion."

DEPARTMENT FOUGHT FIFTEEN OUTBREAKS

Handicapped by Accidents to Three Trucks; Firemen Kept Busy

With two trucks put out of commission as the result of an accident and another undergoing repairs, the Victoria Fire Department yesterday afternoon successfully fought no less than fifteen fires, a record for the city. Of this number there were seven roof fires, and seven grass fires, and also an outbreak in a pile of sawdust. The worst damage was done to the house of H. A. Munn on Davis Street. The home of W. H. Bone on Rockland Avenue suffered considerably. All the alarms were rung in after two o'clock, and the Department was kept busy until midnight. The Duchess Street engines were kept for eight hours at the Uplands, and could render no aid to the city. While going to a fire on Hillside Road at five o'clock yesterday, one truck was disabled when the axles of both front wheels snapped. The car skidded some two hundred feet along the paving, but no one was injured. At Beacon Hill a spring in one truck was broken. In spite of these handicaps Chief Vernon Stewart's forces managed to extinguish every blaze, and keep the situation well in hand. The officials of the Fire Department complain that several fires yesterday were absolutely unnecessary, and were the result of carelessness on the part of people who throw lighted matches or cigarette butts on the grass. Particularly is this true at Beacon Hill where large numbers of people congregate daily. Fearing similar outbreaks Chief Stewart has placed a patrol about Beacon Hill to-day.

K. OF C. HUT BOOK SHOWER A SUCCESS

Over two hundred and fifty books, including popular novels and standard works by the best authors, were contributed at the book shower held at the K. of C. Army Hut yesterday afternoon. Organized by the Ladies' Committee of the Knights of Columbus, the result proved most gratifying and should form a substantial nucleus for the library at the Hut, and make a pleasing and welcome addition to the many comforts enjoyed by the ex-service men who frequent the hotel.

The hut was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion and the event assumed the nature of a delightful social function. Delicious teas were served during the afternoon, the proceedings coming to a close at five o'clock. Mrs. W. T. Barrett was convener of the Library Committee and Mrs. J. D. O'Connell of the refreshments. The ladies associated with them in the undertaking included Mrs. J. D. Carlin, Mrs. Stuart Robertson, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. J. Schell, Mrs. Hallam, Mrs. H. A. Goward, Mrs. Cavin, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. MacDermott, Mrs. J. Hunter, Mrs. W. H. P. Sweeney, Mrs. M. Steele, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. O'Halloran, Mrs. Neary and Miss Colbert.

BODY OF W. G. BROWN FOUND IN HARBOR

The lifeless body of Walter G. Brown was found floating in the inner harbor near the G. T. P. docks yesterday afternoon. An inquest will be held to-day. Sixty-five years of age and unmarried, Mr. Brown has been ill for some time, and recently suffered a severe nervous breakdown. On Tuesday evening he had tea with his brother, J. G. Brown, of 1295 Fernwood Road, and afterwards spend an hour at the home of some friends. At that time his condition did not seem at all unusual.

Two Splendid Programs on the Sixth Day by These Talented People.

It is entirely probable that you have never seen just such a thoroughly enjoyable program as the Regniers are bringing to you on the sixth day of Chautauqua. Breezy, snappy, bubbling with laughter, they have one of the most surprisingly unique entertainments of the platform. Roy Joseph Regnier is an impersonator of unusual ability. As an Irish jautior, the stately old southern colo-

And with such rapidity does he work that you have a vague impression that there are several characters on the stage at one time. Mrs. Marie Wolfe Regnier is a charming musician and sweetener and brightens every program with her delightful songs and pianologues.

103RD DANCE A SUCCESS

Many Members of "Timber Wolves" With Their Friends Enjoyed Evening at Alexandra Club.

Celebrating the third anniversary of their departure from Victoria for overseas the members of the 103rd Battalion with their friends enjoyed a dance at the Alexandra Club last night. As a result of the thorough manner in which the arrangements were made the dance was one of the most successful that has been staged by any of the returned soldier associations. Dancing commenced at 8.30 o'clock and continued until 1 o'clock. Heaton's orchestra provided the music which was exceptionally good and greatly enhanced the enjoyment of the couples. The supper was all that could be desired.

The dance was the first of two functions arranged to celebrate the third anniversary. On Wednesday evening next at the Empress Hotel the members of the 103rd Battalion will gather at a grand reunion banquet. A splendid programme of music is now being arranged and several addresses will be given. The committee in charge of the dance last evening consisted of Major Pemberton, Capt. Dexter, C. R. M. W. Black, C. Q. M. S. W. A. McLean and C. Q. M. S. R. Burns. The committee deserve a great deal of credit for the efficient manner in which it handled the affair.

Lieut. Harold Palmer Served With 103rd Battalion and Later Flew in Egypt.

After three years' service both in France and in Egypt, Lieut. Harold J. Palmer has returned to this city. He left here with the 103rd Battalion, and, after being wounded at Vimy and recovering from his injury, was granted a commission in the R.A.F. For a year he served in Egypt with the Flying Corps.

WHIRLWIND WOOING.

It was raining—it had been raining, for three hours.

Yet the young man remained loitering around the garden gate, heedless of his dripping clothes.

At last a middle-aged woman came to the door, and indignantly demanded to know what he wanted.

"I've come a-courtin' your daughter," replied the young man, sheepishly, with wild hopes that he would be asked inside. "Courtin' Lizzie—eh?" said the woman, with deep sarcasm. "Then you'd better run away and loose yourself! My Lizzie ain't going to marry any one who ain't got the pluck to knock at the door and ask for her! Why, when her father came after me, and found the door locked, he climbed the back wall, strangled the bulldog, and knocked the old man down. Then he grabbed hold of my hand and shoved on the ring, and told me the name were to be called the next Sunday. That's the sort of husband I want for my girl—not a shivering idiot who ain't got enough sense to come in out of the rain!"

PEACE

Never before in the history of the world has there been such widespread manifestations of joy as next Saturday's Victory Celebration promises to be. VICTORIA LAWN BOWLERS GOING AFTER ALL PROVINCIAL HONORS

Three Rinks Will Cross to Vancouver to Compete for B.C. Championships on July 26—Strongest Local Entries for Several Years

Victoria lawn bowlers plan to invade Vancouver on Saturday, July 26, with three rinks which they think will be capable of bringing home one or two of the British Columbia championships which will be at stake in the big tournament to be held there. The local club has notified the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association that it will be over after the honors, but at present is unable to name the men who will bowl, as the finals in the city tournament have not been completed.

Victoria will send over entries in the singles, doubles and rinks, and they believe that their chances will be exceptionally good. Last year the club did not make a very good showing in the B.C. Championships, but this season a number of new men and some of the old-timers who have returned from France have become members and have greatly enhanced the prospects of the rinks in outside competition.

Doubles Played To-night. This evening at the club grounds the doubles in the city championship will be played. The singles are still in doubt. The finals that will be entered in the provincial championships will be made up from the singles and doubles which will be sent across.

A meeting of the Games Committee of the club will be held this evening, and matters in connection with the Vancouver meet will be discussed. By Tuesday of next week the club hopes to be able to announce the rinks that will uphold the honors of this city in the big competition.

Ten Rinks Will Compete. It is expected that about ten clubs will have rinks entered in the B. C. championships. This will be one of the biggest meets held in the west, and competition will be particularly keen. The Chambers cup, for singles, and Barnard trophy, for team aggregate, will both be at stake. They are at present the property of the Vancouver Lawn Bowling Club, and the local rinks will make a strenuous effort to bring the cups back to their home town.

NATIONALS GOT OFF TO GOOD START BY DEFEATING LEADERS

New Arrivals In Lacrosse League Won by 8 Goals to 7; Tired Badly at End

Traveling at a fast pace in the last quarter while their opponents were showing signs of fatigue through lack of training, Victoria West came near overcoming the long lead which the Nationals had established in the first three periods. The Wests were pressing hard when the final whistle blew but had to bow to their first defeat of the season. The speed of the Nationals, especially in the second quarter, had been too great, and the Wests, lost out by eight goals to seven.

The Nationals were the first to score and from then on they were never headed in the game. At the end of the first quarter they led by three goals to two, and in the next period they put on a sensational show by the Nationals, which showed them one to the good, the Wests would have had the satisfaction of pulling off a draw.

Baker shot three of the Nationals' goals, while Lipsey, Mitchell, Menzies, McInnes and Steele got one each. Alexander and Shandley each scored twice for the Wests, and Brown and Nute had a tally apiece.

Alex McDougall and Allie McGregor refereed.

The teams lined up as follows:
Nationals Position Victoria Wests
Gravlin Goal Humphries
J. Dakers Point S. Redgrave
J. McGregor Cover L. Redgrave
McKay Third Defence W. Fairall
Reilly Second Defence Patterson
Menzies First Defence Morrison
Steele Centre Nute

SASKATOON WATCHES ONE OF ITS SPEEDY HORSES WIN DERBY

Prairie Track Fans Greatly Pleased Over Revival of Racing; Fast Races

Saskatoon, July 17.—Gomul won the feature running race yesterday. The Saskatoon Derby was pulled off in the hottest part of the hot day. Gomul is a Saskatoon horse, owned by J. D. Ferguson.

Fighting an uphill race in the first half of the mile and a quarter, he caught up strong in the last, and on the straight through with a lot of speed that brought cheers from the eager fans.

The races throughout the day were attended with much more vim than those of Tuesday and track fans seemed of the opinion that racing had taken a second lease for a time at least.

Victor lived up to his name in the second harness event of the afternoon, winning three straight heats from Hal Edo, twice a close second. A spill occurred in the first heat of the first race, therefore only first, second and third are recorded.

Pat Pointer Fact. Pat Pointer pulled off the fastest event in yesterday's programme in the first heat, first race, doing the circuit in 2:14-2.

Run for the mile and a quarter, Saskatoon Derby, was 2:13-4.

YARROWS HELPLESS BEFORE COLLIERIES

Corkle Was Hit Hard, But Did Not Give Up Task; Exhibition of Booting

Collieries 16—Yarrows 5.
Yarrows looked hopeless last night against the hard-hitting Collieries and as usual lost. It had been expected that the shipyard boys would make the coal-heavers hustle after their fine showing against Foundations on Saturday, but they could not deliver. The Collieries booted eleven chances in the field and had Yarrows sent Brown, their star south paw, to the mound early in the game they might have stopped MacFarlane's gang.

Adam Corkle went into the box for Yarrows and he was scored against in all but three innings. He was touched up for eighteen hits, including a triple and six doubles, and the Collieries ran wild on the bases. Corkle got off to a bad start and never improved, and Manager Beck let him ramble along through the nine innings. Roy Copas twirled a fair game for the Collieries and kept the nine hits made off his delivery, well scattered. Yain team-mates gave a woeful exhibition in the field but they could have thrown the ball out of the lot and still have won.

SPORTING NEWS

MANY NOVEL COMEDY EVENTS ON SATURDAY

Harry Skuce Arranges Amusing Programme; Everything Ready For Big Gala

Harry Skuce, who is in charge of the comedy and special features for Saturday's big aquatic meet at the George, has handed in his programme of events to the Arrangement Committee. Harry has worked very hard in order to make his part of the meet a big success and there is no doubt that the public will be entertained by some novel and original stunts which will be seen in Victoria for the first time. The completed programme is as follows:

Crab race for fat men.
Tilting in canoes.
Tub race for boys.
Tub race mixed.
First Victoria aquatic derby minus the betting ring.
Knights of old tournament.
Boxing exhibition, Albie and Jumbo Davies.
Special comedy stunts.
Polo Team Works Well.

The V. I. A. A. water polo team had a very strenuous work-out last evening under the most adverse conditions, the high wind making it appear as if the game was being held in the open sea. The boys, however, stuck to their work and put in an half hour's hard practice. The team will work out again to-night and will then rest up until they dive into the water on Saturday in an attempt to bring the championship to this city.

This part of the programme is creating a great deal of interest on both sides of the line owing to the fact that it is virtually an international competition between the best teams of Western Canada and Western U. S. A.

Audrey is Ready.
Miss Audrey Griffin, Victoria's chief representative in the events for ladies, has practically finished her training and is now resting preparatory to a very busy day on Saturday, when she is entered in her usual sporting manner for all of the events on the programme for ladies.

Last year's records and winners of the championships are as follows:

50 yards, ladies—Miss Audrey Griffin; time, 36 sec.
50 yards back stroke, men—H. W. Buckland, Portland; 33 1-2.
Plunge for distance—J. Sexsmith, Camp Lewis; 42 feet 6 inches.
100 yards, men—Geo. Cuhna, Camp Lewis; 60 2-5 sec.
50 yards breast stroke—Mrs. Martin, Ladysmith; 41 2-5.
Pancu diving, women—Miss Thelma Payne, Portland.
440 breast stroke, men—Granger, Vancouver, and Webster, Portland; time, 9 mins. 8 sec.
50 yards, men—George Cuhna, Camp Lewis; 24 3-4 sec.
440 yards free style, ladies—Audrey Griffin, V. I. A. A.; time, 9 mins. 20 sec.
Pancu diving, 10-foot board, men—Kuehn, Multnomah A. C.
220 yards, men—George Cuhna, Camp Lewis; time, 2 mins. 34 3-4 sec.
Water polo—Multnomah A. C., Portland, beat V. I. A. A. 5 goals to 4.
440 yards, men—O. J. Hosford, Multnomah A. C.; time, 8 mins. 27 sec.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

Look Out for the Nationals.

In last night's lacrosse fixture the Nationals upset the dope. In their three previously scheduled games they failed to field a team and were looked upon as down-and-outers. George Straith, however, refused to die and he rounded up a number of old-timers who have just returned from the war, and handed them a new uniform each, a pair of gloves and a stick, and told them to go to it. They certainly went to it with a rip and roar. They handed the Wests the first licking they had suffered this season. The Nationals look strong, although they lacked pep during the last period, due to insufficient training. Some of the fans who watched the game believe that the Nationals will give the Wests a hard run for the flag and may possibly beat them to it. One thing, however, is certain. By getting into the game they will make things a whole lot more interesting in the league. Lacrosse is in a more flourishing condition to-day than it has been for five years, and if a fair standard can be maintained this season it is assured that next year when everyone is settled down to the quiet life, that a better and keener brand of the national game will be produced.

Storms the Lalonde of the Amateurs.

Victoria fans will recall with pleasure the brilliant performance here of Storme, the New Westminster home mail. Although checked to death by Munro, of Foundations, he frequently showed a flash of his real ability. Had it not been for the length and breadth of Munro the Royals would no doubt have more goals to their credit. After watching Storme play against Vancouver last Saturday the Terminal City scribes named the youngster the "Lalonde of the amateurs," for he seemed to be able to score with a half-dozen impeding his progress. Although closely watched he got three of Westminster's seven tallies. He got his last goal with the big defence men Gilmers and Mowatt hanging to him like limpets. On Saturday the Foundations will travel to Westminster to meet the Royals, and a hard and keen battle is expected. The shipyard boys know that Storme will have to be watched and checked, but whether they will get away with the close checking which was permitted here is another question. The clash between these two teams will be one of the fastest and hottest arguments of the season.

ALL TENNIS PLAYERS

IN RUNNING PLAYING

Exciting Games Will Be Played in Chicago Tournament This Afternoon

Chicago, July 17.—Every tennis player in the running in the ninth annual national championship tournament on clay courts will get into action this afternoon. A full programme is scheduled with men's singles in the sixth round, and the winners to qualify for the semi-finals, men's doubles in advanced rounds, women's singles, players competing in early round eliminations and women's and mixed doubles contests to begin.

The sixth round matches in men's singles to-day will qualify the players who will meet Friday in the semi-finals.

The pairings are: William T. Tilden, Jr., Philadelphia, vs. Axel Graven, San Francisco, Cal.; Robert G. Kinsey, San Francisco, vs. Walter K. Westbrook, Detroit; William M. Johnston, San Francisco, vs. L. Harry Waldner, Winnipeg, Man.; Walter T. Hayes, Chicago, vs. Vincent Richards, Yonkers, N. Y.

Johnston defeated Voshell in yesterday's game with ease, although losing the middle set, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, in the fifth round play.

Interest in Johnston's victory was divided with that of Axel Graven, San Francisco, University of California star, over Cedric Major, New York, 9-7, 6-0, in the same round.

In the third round of the men's doubles, J. B. Adoue, Jr., and Evan Reis, Dallas, Texas, defeated P. G. Peach and F. H. Gill, Chicago, 6-3, 6-1.

Australian Team Coming.
New York, July 17.—Officers of the National Tennis Association received a cable message from England yesterday stating that the Australian tennis team would sail for this country on Friday, July 18. The team consist of Norman Brookes, G. L. Patterson, R. V. Thomas and Randolph Lycett.

The association has been requested to enter the Australians in the coming sectional doubles matches in order that one or both teams may have a chance to qualify for the national championship matches to be played at Longwood Club, Boston, beginning August 12.

DEMPEY ON COAST: TO POSE FOR MOVIES

Los Angeles, July 17.—Jack Dempsey, the new heavyweight champion of the world, arrived in Los Angeles early this morning and will remain to-day, going to San Francisco to-night, unless his plans change. He was accompanied by his manager, Jack Kearns.

Dempsey will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to-day.

The champion said it was his plan to visit San Francisco, then go to Salt Lake to see his mother and then return for motion picture work.

CANADIAN LOSES OUT IN SHOOT-OFF FOR KING'S PRIZE MEDAL

London, July 17.—(Canadian Associated Press).—The bronze medal for the King's Prize, first stage, was won by Captain Marriott, School of Musketry, after shooting off with Lieut. Vincent, Hamilton, Ont.

The scores were: Marriott, 4, 4, 5; Vincent, 2, 2, 3.

Marriott has been shooting at Bisleigh for 20 years and took thirty-eighth place in the King's Prize competition in 1901. He trained over 50,000 recruits during the war as brigade musketry officer at Bisleigh.

Eighteen Canadians entered the King's second stage: Alexander, Balfour, Francis, Goring, Hutchinson, Martin, Mortimer, W. Morris, Richardson, F. Spalding, Utton, Vincent, Faulkner, Goodhouse, Hatch, McInnes, Newman and Daunt.

POST OFFICE JOKES.

A rosy-cheeked youngster entered the village post office and carefully laid a huge slice of iced cake on the counter.

"With my sister the bride's compliments," he said, "and will you please eat as much as you can."

The sub-postmistress smiled delightedly. "How very kind of the bride to remember me! Did she know of my weakness for wedding cake?"

"She did," answered the youngster, coolly, "and she thought she'd send you a bit of it this afternoon just to take the edge off your appetite before she posted boxes to her friends."

As a specimen of post office "comicality" this is considered by the staff of the G. P. O. to be one of the best. There are, however, scores of good service stories to choose from.

Some people seem to think that the post office authorities are under an obligation to see that old-age pensions are spent properly. A postmistress received this letter from the relative of a pensioner:—

"Dear Madam.—You are requested to chastise J. M., of B., for drinking his pension on Saturday, and also on a few occasions this month has been found drunk, and if you don't write to him and give him a sharp advice I shall proceed against you without further notice."

Another postmaster received this letter from a total stranger:—

"The Postmaster.—Sir, will you kindly send one of your selections for the Grand National as a trial, and if satisfactory I will pay you."

Telegraph blunders have provided many stories. A merchant, away from home, learning of the illness of his wife, telegraphed to his family doctor for particulars. He received the following reply: "No danger; your wife has had a child. If we can keep her from having another to-night she will do well."

Of course, the letter "d" in child had been substituted for "l." The lady was suffering from a chill.

The limitation of twelve words for sixpence in pre-war days was often a severe lesson in brevity and compression. A happy lover was once cast into the deepest despair on receiving the telegram: "Come as soon as you can. I am dying.—Kate." He went, found Kate alive and well, and she explained she had wanted to say she was dying to see him, but her twelve words had been exhausted; she thought he would understand.

Other sources of error are the incorrect transcribing of telegrams. For instance, in Cornwall there is a parish named Holland. The vicar was going to town and hoped that his archdeacon could be induced to take the duty. The negotiations were entrusted to a brother clergyman. The latter dispatched this telegram: "The Archdeacon of Cornwall is going to Holland. You need not return." The vicar received with astonishment this message: "The Archdeacon of Cornwall is going to Hell, and you need not return."

A mother, on claiming the money deposited by her dead son, was asked if the father were alive. "Father living, but insignificant," was her illuminating reply.

"Well, dear," answered the friend, looking at Trotter, "I am not surprised."

DOES GOLD GROW?

Farmers on the South Downs will tell you quite soberly and solemnly that stones grow. If you seem at all doubtful you will be taken to a ploughed field and shown the flints that cover it thickly. "If stones don't grow," argues the farmer, "how is that every spring ploughing brings a fresh crop to the surface?"

Well gold does not grow like flints—that is a sure thing. If it did, we should not be condemned to flimsy Bradburns, but should be handling plenty of solid yellow sovereigns.

Yet that gold does grow is the actual belief of leading experts.

Soaks Through Rock.

Not many years ago everyone believed in the "marine" theory of gold. In other words, gold was originally deposited in reefs by the action of sea water, and the fine, or placer gold, which is the cause of all big "gold rushes" is simply gold reefs washed into dust by weather and by water.

The newer idea is that mineralizing solutions—carrying up gold from the depths—have risen along the planes of least resistance, and that the gold has thus been deposited in the reefs and rocks where it is found.

That gold does soak through rock is proven beyond doubt. In certain old mines in Australia, which were abandoned many years ago and have since been reopened, not only have the rock deposits been found to be richer than they were thirty or forty years ago, but also the old beams and timbers have been found to be impregnated with gold.

Nuggets with Cores.

Again, it has been found that, under favorable conditions, nuggets increase in size, and it is pointed out that in the centre of many nuggets which have been examined is a small grain of iron-sand, which seems to be the core or nucleus around which the gold has been deposited.

At Sulphur Creek, in Colusa County, California, are hot springs, where gold is always being deposited on the outside of the flinty rock. Gold here is literally growing. The precious metal is often found in "pockets" in rocks. Some men digging a cellar at Sonora, in California, broke into such a pocket, a kind of tiny cave, the sides of which were so thick with gold that in three days they took out 986 lb. weight.

When a motor car is running fifteen miles an hour and is brought to an abrupt stop, the impact is equal to that of a body striking the earth from a height of thirteen feet. When a car is running fifty miles an hour and is stopped in its tracks, the impact is equal to that of a 120-foot fall.

The Awakening of Parliament

From The Christian Science Monitor.

The bill for the Emancipation of Women, which passed its third reading in the House of Commons, on Friday last, may not necessarily become law in exactly its present form, but that it will do so substantially in its present form, is quite certain. The fact that it was opposed by the Government, and that the Government was defeated, does not mean anything at all. The existing House of Commons is, of course, something of an anomaly. It is nearly entirely a government majority. And the fact that the third reading was carried by so narrow a majority as fifteen, with under two hundred members voting, out of some seven hundred, tells its own story.

As a matter of fact the Government can quite easily hold up the present bill in the House of Lords, whilst pushing forward its own bill, or amend the bill in the Lords, and bring up its big battalions to pass it, as happened, through the Commons when it returns to that House. The calls for the Government's resignation, after its defeat on Friday, were in the nature of a bluff, for Mr. Lloyd George could obtain a vote of confidence by an overwhelming majority to-morrow if he chose. Therefore, Mr. Bonar Law, who was in charge of the House, merely smiled, and everybody understood that the smile ended the matter. The real interest of the proceedings, consequently, lay elsewhere.

It is just here that the spirit of the New Renaissance has come to the rescue. Freedom to think, liberty of action, and his liberty of action was, and this is, surely, what Lord Robert was alluding to, being slowly but effectively stamped out. The business of the house was passing entirely into the hands of the Government. And with these changes the life-blood of Parliament was being sucked out.

a great institution which has given to the world the model of a parliamentary institution. Nearly all the initiative, nearly all the influence of the House has tended to concentrate in the Whips' office. What was steadily being effected was the Germanization of Parliament, and, curiously enough, it was Mr. Schnadhorst, of Birmingham, who set the thing in motion. The House of Commons was more and more persistently becoming a mere registering machine of the decrees of a Vehmgericht of which the Prime Minister was the Kaiser. As a consequence Parliament was already beginning to be spoken of, in terms of Carlyle's "Goblin House," as an institution which had outlived its usefulness.

To such an idea no man, surely, was more fitted than a Cecil to take exception. To the Cecil Parliament is bone of the bone, and flesh of the flesh. Not Parliament truly as designed by Mr. Schnadhorst in the name of the Caucus, but Parliament as conceived, in their respective days by Burleigh, by the first Lord Salisbury, by the third Marquess, and now by Lord Robert himself. Mr. Schnadhorst was a sort of Alice in Wonderland. He dreamed of a local member responsible to a Liberal "Five Hundred" of a Liberal "One Thousand." Such a person was not a member of Parliament, in the great sense, but a party delegate. He was dependent on the approval of the Caucus, and responsible to the Whips' office, and so to the Cabinet. Thus the individuality of the private member, and his liberty of action was, and this is, surely, what Lord Robert was alluding to, being slowly but effectively stamped out. The business of the house was passing entirely into the hands of the Government. And with these changes the life-blood of Parliament was being sucked out.

THERE IS DANGER IN TENDER GUMS

To preserve healthy teeth the ordinary tooth-paste is futile. You must first care for the gums, on which tooth health depends.

Yet four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-decay, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease).

At first the gums become tender, though actual gum-shrinkage is imperceptible. But in time receding gums will surely loosen your teeth, and then only a dentist can save them. The tender, bleeding gums of Pyorrhea also act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's (For the Gums) prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. This means that it prevents gum-shrinkage, gum-tenderness, gum-bleeding. So, automatically, Forhan's prevents tooth loosening.

Brush your teeth with it. It scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. If you already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for treatment. 50c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

FORHAN'S, LTD., 807 St. James St., Montreal.

Now the really interesting thing is that, in saying all this Lord Robert constituted himself, consciously or unconsciously, the champion not merely of equal suffrage, he has always been the champion of that, but of the new Renaissance. For decades past the introduction of the machinery of the Caucus, by the radical politicians in Birmingham, has been undermining the influence of Parliament. Little by little the machine has sapped the life of

British Chancellor on Capital Tax

Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his budget deliverance in the British House of Commons, gave two reasons for cutting the excess profits-tax in two: first, that where four-fifths of the profits are taken as taxes the taxpayer does not practice economy as closely as is desirable in the national interest, the nation is interested in having capital accumulations increase. Second, the high levy upon profits deters proprietors from new enterprises in which there are risks of loss. They will stick to established lines in which profits are small but reasonably certain, rather than venture against such odds. This policy is not in the public interest, as it represses enterprises and retards industrial progress. This view is sustained by practical experience everywhere. It is the hope of something above the ordinary interest returns which induces men to go into untried enterprises, and they cannot afford to take the risk of loss if in the event of success the larger part of the profits are taken by taxation.

The Chancellor, although favoring higher death duties, is decidedly against the proposed levy upon capital, as distinguished from income. He does not favor a tax which would not only take all of a man's income, but reach down into capital. Upon this he says: If by a tax on capital is meant a small annual charge, then I think that that charge is as widely distributed and more fairly and conveniently raised in the shape of our income-tax. If, on the other hand, there is meant a large levy on capital, a large slice to be taken out of capital, then I beg the committee to consider what the result might be. It is a bad time to propose such a tax when, for the past five years, you have been begging people to save, and when you are still obliged to ask them to save and to give you their savings. It is a bad time to tax those who have responded to your appeal by reducing their expenditure and making economies, and to let those go free who disregard your instructions and who spent their money when it was not in the interest of the State, in the interest of the State.

Consider a levy on capital apart from the circumstances of the moment. The death duties make such a levy and they make it once in a lifetime, at a time when the taxpayer receives an accession of income, and since they are levied only at death, and we do not all die at the same time, the process of making the valuation and of levying the tax is a task of manageable proportions. It can be done justly and fairly as between man and man, and it can be done with a minimum of evasion or of fraud. Since only a portion of the capital of the country is dealt with in any one year, the tax is paid without any disturbance of credit, and without any depreciation of securities to the detriment either of the State itself or of the home. If a levy was to be made on all the capital of the country at one and the same time by the tax collector, all these advantages would be lost. To make an efficient valuation, fair as between man and man, and fair as between the revenue and the State, would exceed the power of any revenue administration in the world, and I make bold to say that ours is the best way. It would exceed their power at any time, and still more now, when they are charged with the overwhelming new responsibilities which the war has brought. It would be open to all the objections which arose and all the difficulties to which the valuation of the whole land of the country and the taxation of the land of the country gave rise under the Land Values Duty, and open to these objections on a vaster scale, because you would have to value not only real but personal property. Since very few people would have money lying idle sufficient to pay their obligations under the tax, it would mean an immense disturbance of capital. Every one would be seeking to sell securities of one sort or another, and where all are sellers who would be buyers, and who shall measure the loss to the country by the depreciation of all securities (cheers), and who shall measure the loss to the individual through the same cause?

Little Eddie longed for a baby sister. His playmate, Tommy Smith, had a number of little sisters and a new one had just arrived. "If you want a baby sister so badly," said Eddie's mother, "why don't you pray for one?"

"I have prayed," answered Eddie disgustedly, "and every time I pray God leaves it at the Smiths."

Expeditionary Force Ready in 48 Hours

Lord Haldane was a surprise witness at the Coal Inquiry yesterday, says a recent issue of the London Weekly News. Examined by the Chairman, Mr. Justice Sankey, he told the story of how the Army was speedily mobilized on the outbreak of war, and emphasized the necessity of initiative in business. Among his points were that it was as essential to teach administration as strategy and tactics, and that the sense of duty was strong in most men.

The Chairman: I think you were Lord Chancellor, and that you were Minister of War from 1895 to 1912. I am afraid I must ask you one or two questions about that in order to lead up to the questions that I desire to ask you. I think that during that time you had very considerable experience and were responsible for the reorganization of a great State department—it was so.

The Chairman: And I think I am right in saying that during that time you organized the Territorial Forces of the Crown, and that also you provided for a very speedy mobilization of our forces in the event of the nation being called upon to go to war.

The Chairman: I think as a result of your efforts a very speedy mobilization was effected of our forces when war was declared against Germany?—Yes. The thing we concentrated on was extreme rapidity of mobilization and concentration at the appointed place of assembly, and that was carried out.

I think on Tuesday, August 4, and I think even within a matter of 12 or 14 hours, thanks to the scheme of mobilization which you had prepared, some of our troops were already in France?—Yes, within a very few hours troops were in France.

The Chairman: How long was it before the whole of the Expeditionary Force was placed in the field at the appointed place?—On Monday, August 3, 1914, at the request of the Prime Minister, I, as Lord Chancellor, went back to the War Office and mobilized the machine with which I was familiar. That was done by 11 o'clock on Monday, August 3, and to give the orders took only a few minutes. Everything was prepared years before.

The Chairman: How long was it before the whole Expeditionary Force was in the field?—The whole of the Expeditionary Force was ready in a matter of 48 hours. The War Council then decided on four divisions, with a cavalry division, and a fifth division to follow in a week, with another division a little later. That was all carried out as the War Council directed by the War Office.

The Civil Service

The chairman pointed out that the problem which the Commission had before it was to decide whether the present civil service or some form of the present civil service would be in a position to successfully cope with the problems that would face it if the coal industry were run nationally. Lord Haldane replied that he would confine himself simply to that question, for he did not feel that he had any qualification for speaking on the wider question of whether there should be nationalization or not.

For a long time the War Office had, he said been badly split up, not according to services, but according to the different groups of men in authority. So what he endeavored to do was to draw a line of demarcation sharply separating the services directing operations in the field from the preparation of the administrative machinery and material which was required to be behind the Commander-in-Chief to make him efficient.

The same principle, Lord Haldane explained, applied at the War Office in peace time, for everything had to be ready in case mobilization was decided upon. If everything was arranged previously it would be necessary only to touch a button and things would spring to their places.

Taking the regular army as an example, he said that the idea which used to prevail was that anybody who had shown himself eminent in the field could administer. That seemed to him to be a great mistake, and they endeavored to develop a type of administrative officer to an extent that was new in the army. They succeeded to only a very limited extent, because both time and money were short. The general staff had a magnificent college at Camberley dealing with strategy and tactics, but there was no school for preparing administrative officers. In his opinion it was as essential to teach administration as strategy and tactics. In the army administrative matters were just as critical and complicated as any that occurred in civil-

The New Renaissance

From The Christian Science Monitor.

Without being altogether conscious of the fact, the world has entered upon the greatest struggle it has seen since the Renaissance. It entered upon it, for want of another or a better date, during that July week when the people of Berlin were tramping the pavements of the capital clamoring for war. Night after night, when the shops and offices were shut, the men would go down, in their thousands, into the streets, and there would be seen the regiments of civilians, marching like soldiers, now from Charlottenburg and now from Moabit, now from the Luisenstadt and now from the Rosenthal Quarter, but all converging on the vast square before the palace or the Bismarck statue, there to cheer the Kaiser or to sing "Deutschland über Alles."

Those crowds had not the faintest idea of the influence which was moving them, any more than had the crowds which stood silently waiting outside the railings of Palace Yard, to hear what Sir Edward Grey was telling His Majesty's faithful Commons in the famous Chamber in the Palace of Westminster. Once again, after five centuries of doubt and questioning, the human mind was about to burst its banks, and no statesman from the Teutonic North, or from the East, or from the West, or from the South, had any more idea of what was coming than had Pope Nicholas the Fifth, blandly content over the last failure of the citizens of Rome to wrest their freedom from the Papacy, or the Yorkist or Lancastrian barons plucking their white and red roses in the Temple Gardens. No one then did understand, unless it was some one too wise to speak, or too lowly to be listened to; and no one understood it in 1914, unless it was some one metaphysical enough to unravel something of the ambiguities of the human mind, and read the causes of its action.

What is called the world never has had the remotest conception of what the Renaissance was. Yet without that knowledge the background for the understanding of to-day is missing. The world failure is not altogether its own fault, though of course it is in a measure owing to its mental inactivity. It comes partially from the indulgence, even of historians like Mr. Green, in such picturesque phrases as "The New Learning." The Renaissance was a thing far removed from mere wonderful artistic and literary revival. If it were anything at all it was the activity of a spiritual volcano, the determination of a world upon which some vision of principle was dawning to escape from the mental bonds of a moribund theology, and to acquire a moral and intellectual independence.

The human mind, however, with its unmeasured faculty for mistaking side issues for cause, has confused the Renaissance with the paintings of the Sistine Chapel or the printing presses of England. It is like the people who imagine that Robespierre and Marat rather than Voltaire and Rousseau were the godfathers of the French Revolution. As a matter of fact, if any individual could be held responsible for the Renaissance, it would not be the Bramusses or the Raphaels, but rather those wholehearted opponents of the Papacy, the Roman Catholic Emperors Frederick Barbarossa and Frederick the Second of Hohenstaufen. It was these terrible fighters and skeptics who, more, perhaps, than any men, roused a somnolent Christendom into the effort to think. They seemed to lose, of course, because of their own materiality, and because of the selfishness and sensuality of the world they strove to rouse into mental independence. But without them, all the same, the Renaissance would not have come when it did, any more than the great revolution could have flung King Louis from the throne, if it had not been preceded by the "Encyclopaedia" and "The Social Contract."

What Frederick Barbarossa and what Frederick of Hohenstaufen clearly saw was that the world must have freedom to think, liberty to assimilate ideas to principle. That they both knew was impossible so long as its thinking was done for it by the Papacy. They were not what the world calls saints, though they were equally not the sinners the supporters of Rome painted them. No doubt they did many violent things, so did the Pope, but it was their violence which made possible the translations of Wycliffe, the preaching of Huss, and the theses of Luther. A clerical writer has quite recently described Luther as "the first Bolsheviki."

There is a true instinct in the description, just as there was a true instinct in the proscriptions of Rousseau and Voltaire. But the parallel is historically most inexact. Luther was not the first Bolsheviki of any time, even if you are going to use the word, as is usual, in a fatuous way. The first Bol-shervik, in that case, was—who? Abraham, perhaps, when he told the priests of the signatur exactly what he thought of the orthodoxy of the Chaldeans.

Bolshevism, in any case, was just as natural an outcome of Romanticism as the Renaissance was of Romanticism. You cannot deprive people of all human rights for centuries and then expect them to learn the manners of the Oeuvre-Bonnet or the Winter Palace in an afternoon. I pity the aristocrats who went to the scaffold in '93, says a great French writer, but that does not make me forget the indignities and tortures of generations of peasants through the centuries. What happened in 1914 was precisely what happened in 1492 or thereabouts. The conditions, of course, were actually different, but they were relatively the same. Humanity, consciously or unconsciously, had become perverted, for a second time, with a clearer spiritual insight, a truer understanding of principle. As a consequence the volcano was again becoming active. Men's mentality had become more lucid, his spiritual vision clearer, his moral instinct more pure. He could no longer breathe freely in his old surroundings. Nor was it here nor there that all these things were occurring. It was everywhere. The men who were sitting on the political and social safety valves misjudged, once again, the situation. They thought that they could turn the restlessness of the world into the channels of war, and satiate its selfishness with the bread of other nations. The result was Armageddon just as four centuries earlier it had been the Renaissance.

If the looker-on to-day will allow, that is to say, for five centuries or so of progress, he will find that the main springs of human action are the same. The sociology of Armageddon, in other words, is only a repetition of the sociology of the Renaissance. And it may be summed up in a single phrase, the overturning of principle. The whole process was set forth and the ultimate

Bright Future Opened Up for Esquimalt by Dock Establishment

Municipality's Finances Now in Excellent Shape—Record Collection of Taxes—New Bridge Will Be Great Advantage

Esquimalt Municipality is probably in better financial shape than it has ever been in its history, and with the establishment of the big drydock, possibilities which it would be difficult to exaggerate will be opened up. Indicative of the excellent condition of the municipality is the fact that the taxes this year have been collected more easily than ever before. Moreover, the proportion of the taxes collected establishes a record. Of the general taxes this year 81 per cent. already has been collected. Of the sewer tax 76.6 per cent. has been collected. Taking into consideration delinquent taxes (35 per cent.), and arrears (34 per cent.) 71 per cent. of the total has come into the municipal coffers. Thus there will be extraordinary little land for disposition at the tax sale on September 10.

When deciding its financial policy for the year, in order to secure a total of $31,525 for expenditure, the Council fixed the general tax rate at 13 mills. The estimated revenue is $29,847 leaving $6,638 to be raised from land. In addition to the 13 mills rate for general taxes five mills was levied to secure $22,542 for school purposes, making a total levy of 18 mills on the land assessment of $4,619,855.

Bright Prospects. Of all the municipalities of the Island none possess brighter prospects than Esquimalt. The big dry dock, of course, will be the most important thing in the municipality from an industrial standpoint and will go a long way toward increasing its business and prosperity. Business men who are in a position to forecast conditions declare that the establishment of the dock will immediately cause a rise in land values and the appearance of more business establishments in the municipality. In fact, the announcement of the Government's decision to build the dry dock at Lang's Cove has had its effect upon the municipality, and has caused a number of houses in the vicinity of the dock site to change hands within the last two weeks.

The Bridge Will Help. Another thing which will forward greatly the interests of Esquimalt will be the new Johnson Street Bridge. Shorter communication between the municipality and the city has been a necessity for years. And the dry dock will make a viaduct absolutely essential for the transportation of supplies. A traffic bridge across the inner harbor at Johnson Street will take care of all these requirements. To do its share in making the Johnson Street Bridge as useful as possible to the residents of the municipality, the Esquimalt Council this year decided to spend $5,000 in laying a tar macadam surface on Esquimalt Road from St. George's Inn to Head Street. This work is now proceeding as a preliminary to further improvements to the great trunk highway.

Ready Prospects. Speaking of the effects of the establishment of the dry dock and of the new bridge, Reeve Coles remarked: "There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that Esquimalt will receive an impetus greater than any which has ever been experienced in the municipality. A great era of prosperity and industry will be the logical result of the establishment of the dry dock and the bridge at Johnson Street. There is nothing that could be of greater advantage to the municipality than these two works. After all, prosperity must be founded on industry, and it is industry that we will have. The dry dock should support a large number of families to supply the needs of which there will be other businesses."

MANY CAMPERS ON ESQUIMALT BEACHES

Delightful Little Coves and Sylvan Retreats Attract Residents

The section of the Esquimalt municipality from Macaulay Point to the Brother Islands, along the ocean face of the district, has always been popular for picnic parties.

In the days before the advent of war Macaulay plains always was the scene of the summer training camps, and there many citizens who have since won fame overseas had their first training in the art of war. While the plain is largely given over to golf in the long evenings now, the little coves from Lamson Street to Constance Street are now surrounded by campers.

In addition to the campers, who take up more or less of a permanent abode during the warm months in tents erected under the trees, and in close proximity to the beaches, the district has been very popular again this year for picnickers. Bountifully supplied with intervals along the coast line, it is by no means easy to secure close in to the city places where bathing is available, and yet the advantages of sylvan scenery may be secured around the peninsula which are of the most delightful nature.

Visit to the various points recently disclosed to how large an extent the facilities of the beach line are being taken advantage of by campers. The delightful little coves and sheltered spots, within easy access to the street railway, are unquestionably without rival in the immediate vicinity of the city.

SIXTY-ONE YEARS AGO AT ESQUIMALT HARBOR

What a picture the Esquimalt harbor must have presented in July 1858, at the peak of the gold excitement. The rates of passage from San Francisco were: first class by steamer, $65, steerage, $35, by sailing craft from $25 to $50.

Commander R. C. Mayne, of the Royal Navy, who was here in connection with Admiralty surveys, says: "The excitement in Victoria, I think, reached its climax in July. On June 27 the Republic steamed into Esquimalt harbor from San Francisco with 800 passengers; on July 1 the Sierra Nevada landed 1,200 more. On the eighth of the same month the Orizaba, and the Cortez together brought 2,800; and they all reported that thousands waited to follow. The sufferings of the passengers on this voyage, short as it was, must have been great, for the steamers carried at least double their complement of passengers. Of course Victoria could not shelter this influx of immigration, although great efforts were made, and soon a large town of tents sprung up along the harbor side."

ABLE TO BUY AT HOME.

A steady improvement in the facilities afforded to business people in the neighboring municipality of Esquimalt is to be noted, in examining the stores which are located in the municipality. Less dependence on city services in merchandise are shown, of late months, just as the municipality has launched out in its school policy. Six years have given an individuality to the district which is steadily developing as the business expands.

Cowichan Residents Busy With Peace Celebration Preparations; Tag Day For Widow

Duncan, July 17.—A regular general meeting of the Cowichan branch, G.W.V.A., was held recently at the Chemainus recreation rooms with a very good attendance. Ten new members were taken on the strength. The report of the association's delegate, Comrade A. Goddard, was presented, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to him for his work at both the Dominion and Provincial conventions, the results of which were highly appreciated by the association.

The declaration of principles as adopted at the Dominion convention was endorsed by the association. The executive committee was instructed to at once take up the question of holding a soldiers' re-union and dance at Duncan on Monday, September 1.

The secretary was instructed to ask all lodges and associations in the Cowichan district to co-operate and assist in all cases of sickness or trouble occurring to any returned soldier members of their fraternity, and in all cases of like nature amongst dependents of fallen members.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the members of the Chemainus Club for their kindness in allowing the association the use of their rooms. Some sixteen members from Duncan and vicinity went up in cars under the able guidance of Comrade A. J. Marsh, of Marsh's Garage, Duncan.

Widow's Fund

The tag day for the Widow's Fund, held in Duncan on Saturday last, brought in the sum of $122. This sum will be sufficient to pay the interest and taxes on the widow-beneficiary's property and also slightly reduce the mortgage. The committee organizing the tag day included Mrs. Whidden, Mrs. Seeley and Miss Barron. The taggers included Mrs. Seeley, Mrs. Prevost, Mrs. McNichol, Miss Hayward, Miss Barron, Miss D. Morley, Miss M. Burchett and one or two others.

Thanksgiving Service

The public service of thanksgiving for peace, held at Duncan on Sunday, was well attended. The Rev. F. L. Stephenson was chairman of the service, the Rev. Mr. Butler delivering the address, and the Revs. A. F. Munro and F. G. Christmas leading the prayers and benediction. The Cowichan Amateur Orchestral Society, under the direction of W. A. Willet, led the choir of the churches. The collection amounted to $45.78, of which $30.00 will be handed to the Duncan Hospital.

South Cowichan will usher in the peace celebration with a dance to be held at the South Cowichan Hall on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Cowichan Amateur Athletic Club. The regatta held at Cowichan on July 1 is expected to net about $500 for the Duncan Hospital. The returns are not yet complete, but exact figures will be announced later.

LUMBERMEN DO NOT FEAR AN INQUIRY

So Says B. C. Lumber Association
Secretary in Reply to Calgary Contractors

Vancouver, July 17.—"We do not fear any investigation," said R. H. H. Alexander, secretary of the British Columbia Manufacturers' Association, when shown a dispatch from Calgary yesterday afternoon stating that the Calgary Contractors' Association had asked Sir Robert Borden for a prompt investigation of the prices charged by the British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association, the contractors charging that there is profiteering, and that Canadian consumers are discriminated against while American buyers are favored.

Mr. Alexander pointed out that little market for local lumber had been found of late on the prairies. It was the first complaint of this character he said that had reached the Association from Canadian buyers. He admitted that large quantities of lumber are being shipped to the American market, but not at the expense of the Canadian buyers. The Americans, in fact, he said, were paying higher prices for their lumber. It was natural for the lumbermen to look after the markets that were giving them the business. He asserted, however, that the Canadian market was being looked after.

With regard to the supplying of lumber to the prairies, Mr. Alexander stated that the mountain mills were getting most of this business, due to the fact that there was a shorter haul and consequently less freight to pay. He pointed out that it is the same with the lumber industry as in any other lines of business. Where the cost of operation is increased, then the commodity increases in price in proportion. He also explained that the price of lumber now is lower than a year ago.

HELPED THE SCORE ON.

The members of the village cricket club were making great preparations for the start of the season, and when the old gentleman who presides over the score book strolled down to the ground to see how things were shaping the look on his face was eloquent of profound dissatisfaction.

"Avin' things spick and span's all very well," he said, looking at two new chairs placed in the pavilion, "but I tell you straight, you'll either get that old rickety stool back or lose more matches than you've been in the habit of doing."

"Lose more matches!" laughed the club captain. "Whatever do you mean?" "Mean what I say," answered the patriarch. "The victor's stool used to sit on that stool, which had a knack of letting him down two or three times while you were batting, and when he'd picked himself off the ground, there was always nine or ten runs more than 'd reckoned against his team. I ain't giving myself away, mind, but you'll have to draw your own conclusions and get that old stool back."

EMPIRE PREFERENCE AND AUTOMOBILES

London Daily Mail Deals Fully With Effect on Industry

The London Daily Mail deals, in an interesting manner, with the subject of motor cars and Empire preference, and tells of the effect on British industry. The Mail says:

"Among all those who have the welfare of British industry at heart, May 1, 1919, will be remembered as a day of great significance. On that day Mr. Austen Chamberlain introduced in the House of Commons his first Budget, in which the principle of Empire Preference as applied to goods entering the United Kingdom is openly acknowledged and exemplified. For years past the self-governing Dominions have given preference to British as against foreign goods. Meanwhile the Free Trade policy of Great Britain stood in the way of any reciprocal measure.

Even now the political views which have swayed the policy of Great Britain in the past are by no means devoid of advocates. Consequently Mr. Chamberlain, in notifying the intention of the Government to give some measure of effect to the principles which his father championed so ably many years ago, refrained from any course of action which could possibly be described as drastic. He has merely taken the Customs and Excise Duties as they stand and provided for an Empire preference, amounting in some cases to one-sixth and in other cases to one-third remission of the existing duty. For the time being at least he has refrained from introducing new duties which might lead in the aggregate to a complete scheme of tariffs.

A Duty on Cars.

"Prior to the war there was, of course, no import duty levied on motor cars or cycles introduced into the British Isles. The fact that such a duty is now charged is due solely to the incidence and development of circumstances directly connected with the war. One of the chief of these circumstances was the fact that Great Britain is almost entirely dependent on imported supplies of motor fuel. When the war had been in progress for a few months the demand for fuel for military purposes became so great as to make it desirable to eliminate any unnecessary use. Moreover, the Government wished to encourage economy among the community as a whole. Certain classes of the community have always wrongly regarded the motor car as being merely a luxury of the wealthy.

"The country was placarded with notices which, in spirit, if not in words, conveyed the impression that any motorist was necessarily a person lacking in patriotism. With this policy to support there could be no excuse in encouraging the importation of motor cars and cycles for other than absolutely essential purposes. Moreover, shipping space was badly wanted for munitions and unnecessary purchases of foreign goods were recognized as having an undesirable influence on the rate of exchange. Consequently the Chancellor of the Exchequer then in office proposed an import duty of 22 1-3 per cent to be levied on all classes of motor-vehicles. His proposals were, however, subsequently reconsidered and modified to some extent, commercial motors being ultimately omitted from the list.

A Temporary Prohibition.

"The reason for this step was that huge numbers of motor vans and lorries had been commandeered from their owners at the outbreak of war. Subsequently all the leading British manufacturers were fully and continuously engaged in supplying military vehicles. The consequence was that civilian firms, when they found that their business was still continuing, found also that they urgently needed new motor vehicles unobtainable except by importation. The effect of this import on the British industry was, of course, unfortunate. It meant that people who had previously used British machines were compelled to buy foreign ones. In other words, the established goodwill of the British industry was taken away from it and presented free of charge to the foreigner. This process occurred both at home and in the over-seas markets, from which British manufacturers were excluded owing to the prohibition of export of motors.

"Later on, when the most urgent needs of the business community in the British Isles had been filled, the German submarine campaign and increased demand for fuel for aircraft purposes operated together to bring the British Government to the conclusion that imports of motor vehicles should be temporarily prohibited except under licences granted only in somewhat exceptional cases. Thus, during the years immediately past, practically no foreign motor vehicles have found their way into the British Isles, except such as were required to supplement the supply of the British vehicles in military use.

"Now the prohibition of import is being gradually removed. Until September 1 foreign vehicles can only be imported in very limited numbers in accordance with a rationing scheme, the basis of which is 50 per cent of the imports during the corresponding months of 1912. The next step must of course be the unlimited importation of foreign vehicles, either free or subject to the payment of a duty. Unless some modification is introduced in the budget proposals as first put forward, it seems probable that, from September 1 of this year, absolutely free and uncontrolled importation of foreign commercial vehicles will be possible. What applies to the complete vehicle applies equally to its parts and accessories. Consequently we have as yet no guarantee that any manufacturing concern established within the Empire in connection with the motor industry will receive any preference in respect to any of its productions that are specifically connected with commercial as distinct from private vehicles. The distinction thus caused has no logical foundation and must certainly introduce complications in the collection of the duty and cause a reduction in the total amount realised. From all points of view it is undesirable.

"It is clear, then, that we should either have Free Trade or a protective tariff in respect of all classes of motor cars and vehicles. The choice should certainly be in favour of the tariff, because, as already mentioned, the home industry has suffered serious and unmerited loss of goodwill and some safeguarding measure is needed to neutralise the resulting handicap by which it is penalised. Moreover, the commercial motor industry in particular is placed in a peculiarly unfavorable position because it is one of the very few industries the war-time products of which can be applied to peacetime use. The result of this is that many thousands of surplus Government vehicles are bound to come back on to the market in competition with the new products of the industry at a time when the latter are faced by circumstances which cannot but operate together to increase cost of production."

Empire-Produced Fuels.

The principle of Empire preference is applied by the new Budget not only to the vehicles and their parts but also to motor spirit. In this instance, however, the reduction of duty in respect of Empire products amounts only to one-sixth instead of one-third as in the case of vehicles. The duty on motor spirit has hitherto been rather curious in character, inasmuch as the spirit is not taxed on the strength of its nature but on the strength of its use. No duty is charged on spirit suitable for use as a motor fuel unless it is actually purchased for that purpose. Then, again, motor fuel itself falls into two categories from this point of view. The duty payable on spirit used to propel commercial vehicles is only half that payable on the spirit used in the engines of private cars and motor cycles. The consequence is that the collection of the duty is a complicated and expensive matter. One would imagine that when the amount of the duty is made to depend not only on the use to which the spirit is put, but also on the source from which the spirit is obtained, the difficulties of administration will be further complicated. In the circumstances it is not altogether surprising that the Chancellor of the Exchequer expresses the intention of discussing the subject with the Minister of Ways and Communications, apparently in the hope of abandoning the taxation of motor fuel altogether and presumably substituting some new and simpler impost.

Fuel and Other Taxes.

Any such proposal would have to be very seriously considered before being accepted. We know the disadvantages of the petrol tax, but we have not yet had practical experience of the disadvantages of the alternatives that have not yet been tried. If taxation of motor vehicles or their fuel could be abandoned altogether we should, of course, all be satisfied, but if one tax is merely replaced by another it might be a case of "out of the frying pan into the fire." In principle the taxation of fuel is less open to criticism than many other taxes would be, because it certainly provides that the amount payable shall be more or less proportionate to the use that the vehicle makes of the roads, taking into account mileage, speed, and load carried.

Now that we have Empire preference applied to motor fuels we have a new reason for the maintenance of an import duty. We all recognise that it is highly desirable to stimulate the production of fuel within the Empire. It would be a good thing if each portion of the Empire individually could render itself independent of imported fuel supplies. If this is possible, it would still be a good thing if the Empire as a whole could be made independent in this important matter. This latter is a reasonable possibility. In many parts of the Empire considerable oil fields exist. These will no doubt be located in due course. Then, again, in any tropical or sub-tropical country crops can be grown in profusion and at low cost from which industrial alcohol can be distilled in almost limitless quantities.

BLACKSMITH AND DENTIST.

It is astonishing to find that there is anyone living at the present day who has had his teeth pulled out by the village blacksmith. Yet there are such.

It was quite a common thing at one time to go to the village blacksmith for extractions. His principal qualification for the job was a strong pair of pincers. After gripping the offending tooth with the pincers he would screw the long handles in a vice so that the patient could not move.

Then putting a bar of iron in the fire till it was blazing hot, he would dab it at the victim's nose. He would, of course, violently draw back, leaving the tooth behind. It was all done very quickly and cleverly.—Tit-Bits.

A lady decided to give a Christmas party, and purchased a hat stand which she admired. While showing her purchases to a visitor her little boy came in and forgot to remove his hat. Thinking to teach him a lesson, she said:

"Tommy, what did I buy that hat stand for?"

"For four dollars," answered Tommy, promptly, "but you said that I was not to tell anyone."

VICTORIA'S GREAT DAY.

A gala day, next Saturday, the biggest ever seen. Victorians will welcome and will think what might have been, if lads of our Dominion had not given up their all. And quickly donned the drab khaki in answer to the call.

Canadians have proved their worth, we glory in their deeds. The Mother-country called them, and they answered to her needs. They've sealed a lasting friendship, naught can ever sever. And proud we are to sing with them "The Maple Leaf for Ever."

At Ypres, at Mons, and Passchendaele, at Vimy Ridge also. They proved their valor and their worth, as many a Hun doth know. So let this gala day be one of great commemoration. Spare no expense and let it be a joyful celebration.

And RYLANDS, too, of ROCKSIDE FARM, must have his little say. He says that this is certainly "Victoria's greatest day." And sure as ROCKSIDE CHICKENS are a credit to his store, So sure Victoria's gallant boys helped win the world's great war.

STATESMEN DISCUSS EMPIRE'S PROBLEMS

Rt. Hon. W. F. Massey and Sir Joseph Ward Speak on Work of Peace Conference

BRITAIN'S GRIM NAVY MUST GUARD THE SEAS

Individual British Nations Must Be Self-Governing and Free From Interference

The Peace Conference, the results of the war, and the problems facing the British Empire formed the theme of two powerful addresses delivered this afternoon before the Canadian Club by Rt. Hon. W. F. Massey, Premier of New Zealand, and Sir Joseph Ward, Minister of Finance, both of whom are on their way home after taking part in the historic meeting at Versailles. While declaring that the League of Nations would be a powerful preventive measure against future world conflicts, both statesmen emphasized again and again that the British navy must be maintained; that there must be unity between the British nations in peace as in war, and that their absolute internal freedom must be preserved from interference by any power, not accepting even the Imperial Parliament.

Are Now Nations.

"The Peace Conference is a proof that we are no longer dependencies, but great nations within the Empire," commenced Premier Massey. "This is a good thing, not only for the nations but for the Empire, too. If we stand together with this individual freedom the Empire will be greater in the future even than in the glorious past. I learned during five months at Versailles that Great Britain—by that I mean the British Empire—is the best loved, most respected nation in the world to-day. The world has learned that Britain stakes her all on her word; that no sacrifice is too great when her honor is concerned."

Germany Trying For Re-Establishment

"Germany is trying to re-establish itself in the world," warned the Premier. "I don't agree that the treaty is too harsh. Germany is a nation of seventy million people—an industrial nation with her industries intact, untouched by war. Before long, I believe, Germany will be one of the greatest industrial nations in the world. And Germany can do things industrially that we can't do," the speaker observed, referring particularly to dyes and nitrates. "We have not got the secret of the manufacture of these things. It's funny, but it's so."

"Mind you, I don't think, Germany will beat us industrially, and the Peace Treaty takes cognizance of possible German expansion by prohibiting Germany from manufacturing certain articles."

Just Reparation.

"The Allies were not demanding indemnity," declared the Prime Minister. "They were asking only reparation for the actual damage done, as calculated by a commission of experts. The minimum total reparation will be £5,000,000,000, payable according to the report of that commission. I believe that Germany can pay ten billion and I believe she should pay it! We must not forget that Germany caused the war, the loss of millions of lives and millions of pounds of treasure—and we have got to act properly toward the men who made victory possible."

German Insolence.

While the Peace Conference was discussing various issues, pursued the speaker, the German delegates were becoming more and more insolent every day until it was suggested that it would be Germany who would demand an indemnity if the deliberations were prolonged.

RT. HON. W. F. MASSEY

The League of Nations

The most hopeful feature of the League of Nations, said the Premier, discussing the most important work of the Peace Conference, was the fact that its foundation members were the Allies, who had stood together through four years. But there were some nations who still stood aloof and remained incorrigible. Thus there was the serious question, "How far can we go with disarmament?"

"If it had not been for the British navy," asserted the Premier, answering this question in part, "the chances are ninety-nine to one that Germany would dominate the world to-day. No, the League of Nations will not make war impossible, but it will make them less frequent—that is all that its most enthusiastic supporters claim for it. It should be borne in mind that the League is in its infancy. If we allow ourselves to be lulled into apathy, to think that everything is now done, that the League is perfect, we will not be doing our duty to civilization. We must protect our trade routes, and if the British Empire is to stand we must have our navy! Our friends to the south say 'Hands off the Monroe Doctrine.' We say 'Hands off the British navy.' Before ten years have passed I hope to see an Imperial British navy in the Pacific to protect us from any nation."

German Colonies.

The disposition of the German colonies, said the Premier, was of particular interest to New Zealand, which expected that they would be kept by their conquerors. The Peace Conference, however, had thought differently. Germany, contended the speaker, had occupied every Pacific Island it could lay hands on. There were two groups of islands in the Pacific which were the keystones of the defence of the Pacific British nations.

"We must hold Samoa, and we are going to get it, not for New Zealand, but for the Empire," the Prime Minister declared. "Germany angled for Samoa for years, got part of it and made it a centre of activity in preparation for 'Der Tag.' When 'Der Tag' came Australian and New Zealand soldiers had captured the islands and in future they are going to be held by Britain."

War Criminals.

The work of the Crimes Commission, of which he had been a member, was described by Premier Massey. The Commission had recommended, he recalled, that people guilty of crimes should be punished.

"Some people told us," said the Premier, "that we could not punish the heads of States; I cannot agree with this. If the head of a State commits crimes he is responsible to the laws of the country. We recommended that guilty persons should be punished. The Kaiser is to be tried by an international tribunal, under conditions different from those anticipated, if they ever get together—I have my doubts—are they trying him for a criminal act? No. He is being tried for a breach of international morality. I don't rightly know what that means. But it's not a criminal offence. I hope that we are not going to allow the arch-criminal of all history to escape and punish his subordinates! This must not happen! In duty to the millions that suffered and died those guilty of most awful crimes must be punished."

Increased Trade Connections.

The necessity of increased marine connection between Canada, Australia and New Zealand was emphasized by Sir Joseph Ward, who declared that the Pacific was by far the most remarkable ocean in the world.

League of Nations.

"As long as human nature remains unchanged there will be a spirit of antagonism," observed the Finance Minister, "but the League of Nations I firmly believe will prevent terrible, devastating wars between great countries."

"Why shouldn't Germany make reparation for the terrible damage done?" demanded the speaker. "Though the majority may not have been responsible for the crimes of their master, why should she not dig her hand into her pocket for thirty, for fifty years, if necessary?"

Imperial Federation.

"Are you going to be satisfied with two representatives going to London once a year in a war cabinet, which will sit in secret?" asked Sir Joseph, discussing the prospects of an Imperial Parliament. "The present system of Imperial Conference cannot go on, and must not go on. We who bear the taxation are entitled to adequate representation. And the people of the Empire are going to see that the Empire is built on lines that will not allow you to be plunged into war

SIR JOSEPH WARD

Without your concurrence before hand. The safety of the Empire, of the world, will depend upon the people, not upon hereditary rulers. If Germany and Russia had had a limited monarchy with a king like our beloved British King, who never directly or indirectly had anything to do with bringing the Empire into the war, there would have been no Armageddon. The German people will see that they have the right to elect their own rulers. And Russia, too, will be split up into many free republics. Indeed, I hope that the continent of Europe will be a republic, too. And then there will be no headlong plunges into desperate wars."

Nothing Too Bad for Kaiser.

"There is nothing too bad for the Kaiser," asserted the speaker. "Do you mean to tell me that an assassin of just two people—here, would not have to pay the penalty? There is nothing too bad for him. I would shed no tear if he were lynched."

British Navy Base of Empire.

"We have the right to decide ourselves whether we shall or shall not build up the British Navy," pursued Sir Joseph. "And for will never let it deteriorate, for the whole structure of the Empire stands on one base—the British Navy!"

The labor problem, declared the speaker, must be met. A system that would stop strikes and remove friction must be found.

Hands Off!

No nation, not even the Old Country, asserted the Finance Minister in conclusion, must be allowed to interfere with the internal government of the individual British nations. John Cochrane, in a patriotic vein, introduced the speakers.

Keeping Everyone Supplied

To make sure that our patrons are kept supplied with Imperial Polarine and other products, we operate fleets of motor trucks and tank wagons. Distribution never lags—deliveries are prompt and frequent.

Imperial Polarine perfectly meets the lubricating requirements of automobile, tractor and stationary engines. Spreads a thin, unbreakable coating of lubrication between rubbing parts. Intense heat can't make it break or gum. Friction is prevented, wear retarded. Imperial Polarine imprisons power in the cylinders—burns without leaving carbon.

Three grades—Imperial Polarine, Imperial Polarine Heavy and Imperial Polarine A.

Ask the Imperial Oil Man which you need. In one-half, one and four-gallon sealed cans, twelve and a half gallon kegs, half-barrels and barrels.

Bela Kun, Hungarian Communist Leader, Is Ousted, Say Reports

Paris, July 17.—(Associated Press)—Bela Kun, head of the Hungarian Communist Government, has been ousted, according to dispatches from reliable sources in Vienna received by the Peace Conference.

Troops returning from the Czech front were reported entering Budapest in large numbers. Budapest was in disorder. Boehm and Lander have taken over control of the Communist Government.

HOW TO ADDRESS THE HEIR TO THE THRONE

Ottawa Advises Provincial
Secretary's Department
About Formalities

Suggestions have been made to the Department of the Provincial Secretary from Ottawa in respect of the manner of addressing presentations to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales during his visit to Canada.

An address for presentation should begin as follows: "To His Royal Highness Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David."

"Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester in the Peerage of the United Kingdom."

"Duke of Cornwall, in the Peerage of England; Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick."

"And Baron of Renfrew, in the Peerage of Scotland; Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland; K. G., G. M. G. M. C., etc., etc."

"May it please Your Royal Highness" and end "We have the honor to be, Sir, Your Royal Highness' most obedient servants."

It is pointed out that drafts of addresses, which should not ordinarily exceed four paragraphs in length, should be sent in not later than August 1, to the Governor-General's Secretary, Ottawa.

I. O. D. E. Standard-Bearers—All standard-bearers of primary and junior I. O. D. E. chapters are requested to meet at 2.15 on Saturday morning at I. O. D. E. headquarters, Jones Building, Fort Street.

A Unit in Parade—The C. A. M. C. will parade as a unit in the Peace Day Parade Saturday morning and all members are requested to be on hand on Yates Street in good time. Demobilized nurses are requested to assemble at the corner of Yates and Cook Streets, Col. Donald having granted permission to wear the uniform on this occasion. There will be 100 wounded soldiers from Esquimalt and 70 from Resthaven.

Resthaven Peace Dance—The patients of Resthaven Hospital will hold a dance in Alexandra Hall to-morrow evening between the hours of 9 and 1 o'clock. Refreshments will be served, and a good orchestra will be in attendance. The dance will be for purposes of raising funds for sports amusements for the patients at Resthaven. There are at present 30 men under treatment at Resthaven, and the promotion of sports amusements is considered necessary to their physical improvement. Some of the soldiers will be in the city to-morrow selling tickets for the affair.

Machine Gunners Meet—A meeting of the new machine gun unit which is being organized in this city was held in the Pemberton Block on Tuesday night. It was largely attended by returned machine gunners. The prospects are that the 110 Machine Gun Brigade will be quite popular in this city.

Campbell's Annual Picnic—The annual picnic of the employees of Angus Campbell, Ltd., took place yesterday at Deep Bay. A special car was chartered on the B. C. Interurban to convey the merry party of holiday-makers to their destination and the afternoon was spent in sports and games, while lovers of bathing and swimming indulged in these cool pastimes. Delicious refreshments were served and after a happy outing the party returned to town at eleven o'clock.

Anglican Summer School—At the Anglican Summer School to-morrow Rev. R. E. Mason will conduct a Sunday School conference. Last night Dr. Gowen, Professor of Oriental Literature at the University of Washington, continued his series of brilliant addresses on the Book of Ezekiel.

Members of Victoria Chapter No. 17, Order of Eastern Star, are requested to attend at the funeral of our late Brother Brown, 1.30 p.m. Friday, at Haywards Undertaking Parlors, Broughton Street.

PLEDGING PENSION PAPERS.

Though pension papers cannot legally be pledged and are no security for debt, there is a flourishing industry in lending money on them. Many transactions take place on Saturday, the principal marketing day of the week. A soldier's wife then goes to a woman moneylender and borrows $5, or 10s. till Monday, leaving her "ring-paper" as security. Actually, it is no security, because she must get it back before she can draw her separation allowance, and till she obtains that she cannot repay the loan. Nevertheless the paper remains in the hands of the lender in petticoats till Monday, when the borrower calls for it on her way to the post office.

Grossly Extortionate. For such accommodation the moneylender's rate or profit is grossly extortionate—2d. in the shilling. Some of her "regulars" pay her $2, $4, or more every week in several known cases, indeed, soldiers' wives last year each gave a well-known woman moneylender £4 15s. 4d. merely for week-end loans.

Quarterly pensioners are preyed on in the same way, but by a different class. They are usually "befriended" by beerhouse keepers, lodging-house proprietors, etc., some of whom do a wholesale traffic in pension papers.

A Wily Rascal. One man generally possesses about 150 certificates, which are all more or less mortgaged, and when "pension day" comes round his chief cook and bottle-washer—an expert in making hospital jobs—accompanies every "client" to the post office, lest he should absent-mindedly go away without paying.

Is he, then, never "done"? Well, hardly ever. His greatest loss was through a wily rascal who personated a pensioner for nearly two years after his death, forging an identity certificate every quarter and subsequently drawing his money. It took the authorities all that time to discover the fraud, notwithstanding that on one occasion the person who actually signed the certificate described himself as a "pensioner."

In the end a policeman arrested the personator at the post office, and he did not draw any pension then, the moneylender took the loss in whole or in part.

Poster a-wid that lasts than the last word.

ARE PREPARING FOR LIBERAL CONVENTION

D. D. McKenzie and Others Making Things Ready For Gathering at Ottawa

Ottawa, July 17.—Numerous committees have been appointed to prepare for the National Liberal Convention in Ottawa from August 5 to 7. There is an advisory committee composed of members of the House of Commons, presided over by D. D. McKenzie, temporary leader of the Party. This committee is a preparatory one, as it is to be merged into the National Liberal Convention committee, which is composed of Liberal members of the House of Commons, of the Senate, seven provincial Premiers and the leaders of the Liberal Opposition in two provinces. The National Liberal Convention committee will meet July 21 and the following day will prepare a programme and make suggestions as to the order of procedure at the convention. The suggestions will be considered, revised and approved by a caucus of the Liberal members of the House and Senate on Monday evening, August 4. The chairman of the National Liberal Convention committee is D. D. McKenzie. The chairman of the caucus will be James A. Robb, Chief Liberal Whip.

Details of preparation for the assembling of the delegates and all the preliminaries are being attended to by a local committee composed of the officers of the Eastern Ontario Liberal Association with the members of the executive committee of the Ottawa Reform Association and three members of the executive committee of the Carleton County Liberal Association.

New Brunswick Delegates.
St. John, N. B., July 17.—The Liberal convention called by Hon. W. E. Foster to elect delegates to the National Liberal Convention yesterday chose Hugh M. Balkam, George M. Byron and Daniel P. Gilmour, with alternates Dr. A. B. Dias, Harry Mann and Burton Howe.

The delegates were not instructed by the convention other than on the high cost of living and the tariff. A resolution was adopted urging the removal of the tariff on all agricultural and fishing goods of all kinds for the benefit of the farmers, fishermen and wage-earners. A final resolution was passed "that all Union Liberals, and all those who are in sympathy with the future for the welfare and good of our country."

HEAPS AND BRAY TO SPEAK IN MONTREAL

Montreal, July 17.—Aldermen A. A. Heaps and Private Bray, Winnipeg strike leaders, will again address a Montreal audience on Friday night at an open air meeting on Fletcher's Field. The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council. Permission for holding the meeting was granted yesterday by the administrative commission to John Foster and the Trades and Labor Council, on the understanding that it was to be held under the auspices of that body and that it would be responsible for what transpired.

The fear of the city authorities was that at such a meeting an opportunity might be given to persons, who by their revolutionary situation under which it is difficult for even bona fide workers to hold open air meetings. It was stipulated, therefore, in granting permission for the meeting that only Winnipeg leaders should be allowed to address the meeting.

FRENCH FINANCES

Paris, July 17 (Havas).—The Chamber of Deputies has approved the provisional credits asked by the Government, covering the period to December 31 next.

SURGERY AT SEA

On the American armored cruiser South Dakota recently young soldier was appendicitis, in such a condition that immediate operation was imperative. The ship was fighting in the teeth of a gale; the brave and heroic surgeons, however, braved the storm, and others flung out of their bunks, through the force of the storm.

In spite of this, however, the ship's surgeon, aided by a young surgeon, decided to make an attempt to operate. The machinery was stopped and the two surgeons were lashed to the operating table. At the end of forty-five minutes the operation was completed. The patient recovered rapidly and by the time the ship reached its destination was practically himself again.

Another instance, showing wonderful resource and daring, was that of a ship's steward, who was afterwards awarded the Albert Medal for his pluck.

The ship had been torpedoed by the enemy, and a Lascar, who was on the spot where some deck-plates had been smashed up, had his legs so firmly caught in the debris that he was in danger of going down with the ship.

The steward went to the unfortunate man's rescue, and with great difficulty managed to extract one leg. The other one was nearly severed through above the knee. With wonderful daring, the steward amputated the leg with an ordinary clasp-knife and carried the Lascar to a boat, where he dressed the wound.

Another operation under equally difficult circumstances took place a little while back, when a man, in attempting to leave a railway carriage before the train stopped, missed his footing and fell between the platform and the train. He was dragged down and his leg held fast in the wheels.

A local doctor was called, and after crawling under the railway carriage, made an examination, resulting in a decision that amputation was inevitable.

Owing to his position, it was impossible to give any anesthetic, and by the light of railwaymen's lamps the doctor had to perform the operation to the best of his ability—a difficult task in such a cramped position.

"Pa," said Tommy Tucker, "an I descended from the monkey?"

"Not on my side of the house," replied Mr. Tucker, with much positiveness.

BIG CONFERENCE SEPTEMBER 11

Dominion Industrial Gathering Being Arranged by Government to Begin Then

Ottawa, July 17.—Although the official announcement in regard to the holding of the National Industrial Conference and the matters which will be discussed at that important gathering is not yet forthcoming, it can be definitely stated that the Cabinet has accepted the recommendation that the Conference should convene on Thursday, September 11.

The Conference will last for several days, and it is expected that it will be attended by all the Provincial Premiers or their representatives. The official announcement, which will be made shortly, will cover the plan of representation at the convention and suggestions as to the matters to be deliberated upon.

tained, he declared, even if it should mean the elimination of every lodge in the Winnipeg district.

Definite action was taken in this connection Tuesday night when the lodge members voted to expel the lodge members for twenty-five years. They can, in six months, make application for admission, and permission is granted by the Grand Lodge, they can again become members.

National Railway Men.

Trials are now being conducted in the cases of more than 100 members employed by the Canadian National Railways who took part in the strike. It is expected that similar action will be taken by Lodge 691 of Winnipeg, and Lodge 373 of Transcona, composed of Canadian National Railway employees.

If either lodge should decline or fail to do its duty in expelling the men it may be necessary to revoke the charters, Mr. Murdoch declared.

At Montreal.

Montreal, July 17.—With the return to Canadian Vickers plant of the boiler-makers and iron shipbuilders this morning, the local labor situation is again promising.

The number of striking cigar-makers was increased to about 300 yesterday when some workers who did not strike last week went out.

The blacksmiths and horse-shoers are still out, but M. E. Alarie, who is handling both of the disputes for the time being, stated yesterday that he expected they would be settled in a couple of days.

The most serious industrial dispute now in the city is that involving about 4,000 textile workers. No new developments are reported. The fur dyers, who are still out, reported no further developments but something is expected to take place in a few days.

economy, explaining the efforts of the Government to take care of the returned soldiers on the land, the work of the Land Settlement Board and other matters.

In illustrating the need for economy, he said that whatever the Government did it would not buy votes with road money, adding that after an inspection of all the main roads in the constituency he thought that the district was lucky to have as good roads as it had. He declared that the returned soldiers had no complaint to make against the Government despite the fact that some of them had asked him to resign.

"It really hurt me to refuse them on that occasion," said he, "but it was not their fault; there was a political influence behind them."

The Government had been employing 300 returned soldiers and could not be said to be giving their claims for employment attention, he remarked.

His Government, he continued, had increased the debt $5,000,000. Over $4,000,000 of that had been caused by the extraordinary expenditures for the Inter-provincial and sinking funds of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, and $750,000 had gone to South Vancouver to keep the receiver out.

The ship had been torpedoed by the enemy, and a Lascar, who was on the spot where some deck-plates had been smashed up, had his legs so firmly caught in the debris that he was in danger of going down with the ship.

COST OF LIVING AND STRIKE IN FRANCE

Marcel Huth Says General Strike Next Monday Will Be Failure

Paris, July 17.—The measures announced Wednesday by the Government are not likely to settle the problem of the high cost of living in France, according to a statement issued by the executive committee of the General Labor Federation after a meeting last night. The committee held another meeting to-day to discuss final plans for the general strike proposed for Monday.

Marcel Huth, in The Echo de Paris, declares, however, that the meeting of the executive committee to-day was called to consider the indefinite postponement of the general strike. He says that the National Railroads' Union has received seventeen protests against the strike from its provincial branches.

M. Huth declares that the public need be under no apprehension as to events Monday, and maintains that among the organizations favoring a general strike, barely twenty per cent of the members will go out.

The 12,000 dramatic artists who have decided to participate in the general strike. The Paris telephone workers, it adds, also will go out, but there probably will be a limited service on the subway.

GOLD DISCOVERY IN NORTHERN ONTARIO

Kenogami, Ont., July 17.—A gold discovery of considerable promise has been made on the Four Nations Gold Claim, a mile or two northwest of Kenogami station, in the township of Grenfell. The vein in which the gold has been discovered has been traced for about 200 feet, being found at outcroppings on both sides of the Blanche River.

The Four Nations gold claims derives its name from being owned by four men, one of whom is a French-Canadian, one a Scot, one a Canadian, one a negro from the United States and one a Russian.

U. S. SOLDIERS NOT MOST HIGHLY PAID

Washington, July 17.—Popular belief that the American soldiers are more highly paid than the soldiers of any other country is erroneous, according to an official table issued by the American Staff here. This shows the Dominions of the British Empire—Australia, New Zealand and Canada—allow materially higher pay for each grade than does the United States.

For instance, in the Australian army a corporal earns $72.90 per month, as compared with $36 in the American army. The other extreme is shown in the case of France, Japan and Italy, where the private receives $15.75, 75c and 50c per month, respectively, against the $30 paid the American doughboy.

BRITISH CABLE CENSORSHIP TO CEASE JULY 23

London, July 17.—The British cable censorship will be abolished at midnight on July 23. H. W. Foster, Financial Secretary of the War Office, in the House of Commons yesterday, added that the relaxation would apply to private codes.

HERMIT IN QUEBEC VICTIM OF MURDERER

Montreal, July 17.—Leon Demers, the Sawbridge hermit, was murdered. Such was the conclusion of a coroner's jury after an inquest held yesterday afternoon at Sawbridge.

The victim lived in a shack on the border of the woods, supporting himself by making axe-handles, which he sold in Sawbridge, or begging for his food when the axe-handle industry was poor. He was married, but some three years ago had parted from his family after a quarrel with his wife, and had taken to his solitary life.

EIGHT BATTLESHIPS TO BE AT BREMERTON

Naval Station, Puget Sound, Wash., July 17.—Eight of the finest battleships of the American navy have been officially assigned to the Puget Sound Navy Yard as their home yard, according to a communication from Washington, D. C., which reached the Navy Yard to-day. The ships included in this assignment are all new, of the best type.

CONVICTED MAN IS HANGED AT REGINA

Regina, July 17.—John Wolk, convicted of the murder of Elko Tretia, was hanged at 7 o'clock this morning at Regina jail, the first execution at the institution since it was built, seven years ago, and the first hanging in the city for ten years. The condemned man made no statement or confession, preserving the calm attitude he had assumed since his arrest.

AEROPLANE KILLED AMERICAN AT PRAGUE

Geneva, July 17.—James McCreary, an American, twenty-five years old, was killed at Prague while standing in a boat on the river. He was struck by a swerving Italian hydroaeroplane.

MARRIED IN PARIS

Paris, July 17.—Mrs. Hamilton Cary, of New York, and Baron Emil de Carter de Marchienne, Belgian Minister to the United States, were married here yesterday. Hugh C. Wallace, the American Ambassador to France, and Herbert C. Hoover were among those who attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Cary is a daughter of Joseph Emory Dow of Boston.

FINANCIAL NEWS

CHICAGO GRAINS WERE LOWER TO-DAY

(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)
Chicago, July 17.—Weakness in sterling exchange and lower prices for hogs were the chief factors to cause heavy selling of corn and oats by commission houses to-day. The market did not show much change in price and the close looked weak. The agitation against the high cost of living and the fact that outside buyers are looking for a decline in prices, with the exception of Argentine and Australia, were contributory influences toward lower prices.

NEW YORK COTTON.
(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)
New York, July 17.—Cotton futures were lower to-day. The advance was the signal for profit-taking, to which was added short selling pressure by the bear element who have been constant sellers of industrials for the past week. The market was a lot of selling. The cotton and oil acted in much the same manner, selling off sharply after an early rise. With the exception of Canadian Pacific, the rails stood their ground and in some cases closed higher than yesterday.

NEW YORK SUGAR.
New York, July 17.—Raw sugar steady; centrifugal 73.50; fine granulated 74.

NATURE'S LITTLE JOES.

Nature seems occasionally to have been in an imish mood of jocularity when she was about her work of shaping and moulding things. For instance why did she make the Dalmatian side of the Adriatic one mass of islands and creeks, which are just so many hiding holes for any power that has designs on Italy, and at the same time lay the Adriatic seaboard of Italy as bare and flat and plain as she could plan it? Was it to make the Italian people wide-awake and watchful and resourceful? Besides, the modern world in its pride must never forget that the peninsula produced the Roman.

Nature plays a cruel joke in the difference of altitude of India and Tibet. Had they been reversed one would have said that it was a providential arrangement. The traveller who crosses the Himalayas from Calcutta has to climb nearly twice as much as the traveller who comes from the north, because whilst India averages only about 1000 ft. above sea level, Tibet averages 12,000 ft. and for this reason is called The Roof of the World.

Panama Puzzle.
Now, had India had this elevation, being south of the mighty range of the Himalayas, and thus shielded from the north, as well as nearer to the equator, her climate would probably have been as temperate as Britain, and one of the healthiest in the world. Whilst had Tibet lain as low as India, instead of being the driest, most inhospitable of lands, it would probably have been one of the most habitable countries in the world.

Two of nature's most remarkable jokes are the isthmus of Suez and the canal of Panama. It was thought she had disputed a right of way and put a hurdle across a gap which led to a path across a forty-acre field. When we consider that the piercing of Suez reduced the voyage to Bombay by considerably more than half, and that a perfectly straight line drawn from London to Wellington, the capital of New Zealand, passes through Panama, and that these narrow strips a few miles across connect mighty continents and disconnect even mightier oceans, it will be realized how completely nature had her living in her cheek when she planned them.

Living on Tit-Bits.
One of nature's pleasantest jokes is to make New Zealand and the Mother Country—the one brand new and the other pretty ancient, if we forget Egypt and Palestine and China, and other countries which are really ancient—to be the antipodes of each other. If you were to drive a knitting needle through the orange we call the earth you would find it went straight through the centre, came out at New Zealand. The distance that way is 8,000 miles.

Certainly it is the most absurd of all nature's jokes to put us all on the outside of the big globe floating in space, where we have to make the best of such patches as Sahara and Greenland and Central Africa and the Amazonian Forest and the Arctic and Antarctic, and make the best of the best bits we can find, and yet leave us in utter ignorance of 8,000 miles of interior of the globe we live on, not to mention our ignorance, despite all astronomy can do, of the limitless universe visible in part to our eyes on a starry night. Truly, though nature reckons to be our mother, it must be admitted that she is, for her age and position, a trifle frivolous.—Tit-Bits.

HOLLAND AND SWITZERLAND

Berne, July 17.—The Dutch Government has sent a note to Switzerland formally recognizing Switzerland's right of navigation on the Rhine, with all the provisions attending such navigation.

ANDES SNOWSLIDES

Buenos Ayres, July 17.—New snow-falls on both sides of the Andes mountains have resulted in several landslides of large proportions, adding to the difficulties of repairing the tunnels of the Trans-Andine Railway. The tunnels of the Trans-Andine Railway have been destroyed in the latest landslides. The blizzard in the mountains is said to be continuing, forcing repair gangs to abandon their efforts.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, July 17.—To-day's cash trading in coarse grain was very quiet. Oats closed 1 cent lower for July, October and December, and 1 1/2 cents lower for barley. Barley closed 1 cent lower for July and October, and 1 cent higher for December 1 cent higher for oats. Oats closed 1 cent higher for July, October and December.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Charlie Chaplin in "Sunnyside" will again make his reappearance at the Royal Victoria to-night. This is Charlie's latest comedy and by the favorable comments which have been made since its first presentation, in this city will no doubt go down as one of the finest picture comedies that has been produced by this world renowned comedian.
"The Chance of a Lifetime" which is the other feature will also prove to be a form of entertainment that is rarely seen in Victoria. It is an English made production and the screen version has been prepared under Nat Gould's personal direction. The picture is full of exciting and thrilling incidents including a great race scene. An element of interest is also included in the plot, which cannot fail to grip and hold the interests of an audience from start to finish.

DOMINION

In his new comedy "Sunnyside" Charlie Chaplin continues to give crowded houses, nightly a highly appreciated feast of fun and frolic. His antics as the full staff of help in the village hotel are extremely amusing. His funny little walk was never used with better effect than in the scene where he attempts to drive the cows home and loses the herd at the forks of the road.

The Artcraft feature "Eyes of the Soul" also proves a strong attraction. When Elsie Ferguson, the picture star, was in Miami, Fla., filming "Eyes of the Soul," she was accorded a most flattering reception by the populace. The newspapers printed front page stories under glowing headlines announcing her presence in the place and every time she appeared, huge crowds followed her.

Jacques Bissel, cameraman for Miss Ferguson, declared that he had never before had such a remarkable chance to film sunsets like those in Miami. He took several hundred feet of different sunsets in order to experiment with them later in shading, coloring and silhouetting.

Miss Ferguson is a cabaret girl in "Eyes of the Soul" which will be distributed at the Dominion theatre. The story was written by George Weston and the picture was made by Eve Unsell. An excellent supporting company headed by Wynnehan Standish and J. Flanagan, has been provided.

VARIETY

Anna Case, the world-famous American prima donna, will be seen in her first picture, "The Hidden Truth," at the Variety again to-day. The picture was supervised under the personal direction of Julius Steger and is distributed by Select Pictures Corporation. In this picture Miss Case is seen as a Western mining camp girl, who through a letter given her by a dying girl she has befriended finds her way into New York society, much prominence is given the dancers who dance the "Shimmie" as a specialty in the revues.

COLUMBIA

One of the gripping scenes in "The Green God," the Vitaphone Blue Ribbon Feature, which will be seen in the Columbia to-day, is where Muriel Temple is forced indirectly to accuse her father of a murder. Added to this is found in the situation from the fact that the father had bartered his daughter to the slain man for a sacred relic, a Green God. The girl also is under suspicion, but a Chinese servant of the family clears the mystery by showing that the avenging hand of Buddha had slain the man, having followed him from the shrine in China, where he had stolen the relic. Harry Morey, supported by Betty Blythe, has the featured role, and others in the cast are Arthur Donaldson, George Majeroni, Bernard Siegel, Robert Gaillard and Joseph Burke.

ROMANO

There's a strange and exceedingly interesting situation in the new World Picture "The Love Forgiven," which stars Barbara Castleton and Johnny Hines as the stars, will be shown at the Romano to-day and for the balance of the week. The situation is this: A widowed, wealthy business man marries a show girl, and this marriage, in a startling manner, means happiness for his daughter. The striking way in which this comes about is entertainingly told in this new picture. Appearing with the stars in this production is a notable cast. John Bowers appears as the father, Barbara Castleton as the daughter, and Muriel Ogilvie has a big role, and a number of other film favorites are seen in powerful parts. "What Love Forgives" has a number of big scenes, some of these being staged in a big New York theatre, which was especially rented for the purpose of enabling these scenes to be filmed in the proper environment.

PANTAGES

The famous Shimi-Shi-Warba, or "Shimmie Dance" as it is more widely known, is introduced to Victoria audiences for the first time by the Kathryn McConnell, as one of the attractions of the "1919 Song and Dance Revue," presented as the feature on the current bill of Pantages vaudeville. What is the "Shimmie Dance"? It is a dance originated in the tropics, so far as is known, in the South Sea Islands, by natives. It is the blending of the poetry of rhythmic motion with music. A later story of its origin says that it was first danced in the black-and-tan belt of New Orleans, La. But those who are familiar with the folk terpsichore of the world are of the opinion that it was danced in that district it was imported there by a negro seaman who had cruised in the south-seas. The "Shimmie" is a dance, London and Paris, excelling even the tango for popularity. In the big musical revues recently produced by Albert de Courville and Sir Alfred Wallis in Paris and London, much prominence is given the dancers who dance the "Shimmie" as a specialty in the revues.

"HONOR OF FAMILY"
A BRILLIANT COMEDY

Otis Skinner Scored Great Success at Royal Victoria Theatre

With "The Honor of the Family" as his vehicle, Otis Skinner returned to the Royal Victoria Theatre last night. He added another to the growing list of successes to the credit of that house since the dramatic revival of the current here with the ending of the war. It was to an audience that comfortably filled the theatre that the piece was offered, and the endorsement accorded was further proof to the skillful construction of the comedy, but chiefly to the histrionic finesse of Mr. Skinner himself.

The tale is one of a strutting colonel of the fallen Napoleon's army who returns to his uncle's home and uses his bluster, his good sword arm and his wits to clear the family circle of a crafty and designing woman and her conscienceless male accomplice whom he finds established at his uncle's hearth, waiting for the elderly gentleman to die and allow his millions to fall into his grasp.

The role of Colonel Philippe Bridau offer Mr. Skinner almost limitless opportunities for a display of that type of comedy of which he is such a master. Perhaps the most flattering tribute given by the audience during the whole performance was its reception of the colonel on his first appearance, for meant that by simply bursting through a door and walking upon the stage Mr. Skinner had conveyed to all parts of the auditorium fairly and comprehensively the conception of the character he wished to create.

Although the play is almost entirely devoid of serious moments to sustain its broad humor, Mr. Skinner found ample opportunity to use the full range of his expressive vocal equipment. His costume and the angle of his hat in themselves were wonderful aids to the character, and his strut and general bearing of bravado were equally effective as the most brilliant lines given him by the playwright. Of the thirteen other players the most outstanding were Miss Evelyn Varden, as Flora Brader; Alexander Onslow, as the commandant Max Gilet, and Robert Harrison, as Jean-Jacques Rouget.

Bowel Complaint
IT WAS CURED BY
DR. FOWLER'S
EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Any one suffering from bowel complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, summer complaint, etc., will find that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will give quicker and more permanent relief than any other remedy on the market to-day.

This old tried and proven medicine has been on the market for the past 74 years. You don't experiment when you buy it. Surely the test of time proves this.

Mrs. Daniel Hartwick, Mountain Grove, Ont., writes: "I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and have found that it is a good remedy. When my little girl was 2½ years old she had a very bad attack of bowel complaint. Nothing prescribed by the doctor seemed to do her any good. She got worse, until we thought we would lose her. I got a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's' and she soon found relief. Every one who has children should not be without it in their home. Price 35 cents a bottle; put up only by the T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont."

Replacing Soldiers in Civil Life

By Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Department.

"The boys over here are most friendly beggars. You would scarcely credit the variety of callings and pre-war social distinctions that are jumbled up together in one dug out, for instance. Each and every man sharing up whatever good things come his way and helping out his neighbors with the greatest good will. I tell you it is going to make a difference. No high snobbery after this war, if any fellow can help to push another's barrow along."

Statements like these coming during war days gave indication that the Canadian fighting men were naturally sociable creatures and that they preferred partnership to profiteering and valued social intercourse above social advancement, and now that they are rapidly returning home again these same facts must not be overlooked in the scheme of plans for their future.

Officially, that is so far as the Government plans, carried out through the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, are concerned the idea has been kept well to the fore, and it has been one of the main objectives of the employment service of this department operating through the Information and Service Branch, to keep those men who enlisted from small towns and country districts within their own area when the time comes for replacement in civil life.

From the experience of officials of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, who have traveled throughout Canada and those in outlying districts who have reviewed the fortunes and advancement of men coming under their notice from time to time, it has been proved that the men who are placed in the country districts are more successful in making good than those placed in the cities.

To quote at random from the report of one representative, a graduate from the vocational training classes in a western district has now held his first position for eighteen months, and during this period has doubled his salary. In order to encourage the settlement of men in country districts, the Department has opened an additional number of offices and is prepared, wherever the need for such is apparent, to open more. Every effort is being made to get the man in need of re-training placed with local industries as this will keep them within their own districts. Where it is found impossible for local industries to give the required training the Department's representative will endeavor to return the man for placement after his graduation to his own home town.

On the Provincial Assistant Directors of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment writes: "The men in the country districts get a better chance than those in the towns, since employers and others are able to take a more personal interest in their welfare; also they settle down much more quickly and forget many things which are much better forgotten. A year's steady work in the country makes a returned soldier an ordinary citizen."

"Every man whom I have visited up to the present is doing well. Many of them are doing extremely well. Speaking generally I find that the men who have returned are settling down well in the country towns and are being well spoken of by almost everybody. Traveling representatives assigned to certain districts and provided with lists of all men who have enlisted from these districts, will call upon local employers to encourage them to provide openings for their own home town men. The idea will be—'If you are so fortunate as to have your boys return home, try to offer them inducements to stay with you in the way of a good job. They will be glad to settle down.'"

Statements have frequently been made that returned men do not wish to go into small towns, craving rather the attractions of the city life as an antidote to the routine they have just discarded. They will crave the feeling of companionship which seems so easily established in large cities, is one idea that has been advanced.

Frequently, when there is talk of sending a man out to a country district or small town, kind friends emphasize the idea of the loneliness that will probably await him. Loneliness is not, however, a condition entirely confined to the small towns or country districts. One may be equally lonely in the biggest city. In fact, the loneliness of congested cities with their unsympathetic surroundings is of the two the more appalling.

But statistics taken from the questionnaires regarding future occupations which were filled in by the men of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, show that there is a general tendency to move back in the country districts, and it is this change of ideas, which should receive every encouragement at the present time, many who were

NEAR ENOUGH.

With a view to letting nothing escape her vigilance, Mrs. Muggins examined the prospective housemaid, cook, and general all in one for five shillings a week.

"You are quite certain you know your duties thoroughly?" she said, after declining to engage her. "You will answer the door to visitors, and wait at table, and—"

and quite sure I will know how to go about them."

Mrs. Muggins was on the point of turning away when a thought struck her, and she suddenly swung round to the girl.

"Oh, by the way, do you know your way to the station?"

"Well, mum," replied Mary Jane innocently, "I'm not sure about that; but I think I know my way to a pound or so."—Tit-Bits.

IMPRESSIONS ON FAMOUS OF BANDITS SIMON GUN-A-NOOT

Deputy Inspector Parson Brought Him to Oakalla Without Trouble

Simon Gun-a-noot is now at Oakalla prison awaiting trial at the Fall assizes. He was brought from Hazelton by Deputy Inspector of Provincial Police T. W. S. Parsons, of South Fort George. And while the more particularized narrative of Gun-a-noot's journey from Prince Rupert is reproduced below from The Vancouver Daily Province, Inspector Parsons adds that his charge was perfectly at ease and caused not the least anxiety for his safety in any particular. The police officer's report was duly rendered in court yesterday afternoon.

Details of Gun-a-noot.
The Province says:
"When Simon Gun-a-noot, most famous of Indian bandits, stepped on the steamer Prince Rupert yesterday and was whisked away in an auto to Oakalla prison to await trial on a double murder charge, a whole bundle of human paradoxes came to light. Gun-a-noot in the Indian vernacular means "the little bear that climbs a tree" but Simon is a big powerful man in the early forties, with arms and shoulders like a grizzly, a gliding easy stride like a panther and a broad face that lights up with a pleased boyish grin at the slightest provocation. For thirteen years Simon Gun-a-noot with the panther stride and the reputation of being the deadliest shot in the whole Northwest, defied all the efforts of governments to bring him to justice. Fifty thousand dollars were spent in the vain effort—a little over $45,000 to be exact. Having succeeded in convincing the authorities that he could elude and defy them, Simon came and handed himself over voluntarily.

And this man who, according to the crown's theory, slew two white men to avenge an alleged insult to his wife, has now given himself up for his children's sake.

Has Five Children.
Simon has five children—three boys and two girls of whom he is very proud. "I want my children to come out and have good education and learn to live good." That is Simon's own simple explanation of the reason which led him voluntarily face two or three months' confinement in prison while the crown prepared to try him on the double murder charge.

Up behind Hazelton in the Klappan and Babine valleys, and further north in the basins of the Naas and the Stikine rivers, the delivery-up of Simon Gun-a-noot is the one big theme of interest wherever an Indian band makes its encampment. For Simon is revered among the tribesmen of the North for his qualities of character as much as for his skill as a hunter and fighter.

In his youthful days Simon came under the influence of the Catholic missionaries. With the education he received he started in business as a trader and storekeeper among the Babine Indians. In fact he had just returned from a trip to Victoria buying stock for his store at the time of the quarrel he is said to have had with Aleck McIntosh and Max Leclair the night before their dead bodies were found three miles apart on the trail outside Hazelton.

Man of Religion.
And all through his long fight to retain his freedom and in his long years of exile, Simon is said to have achieved a reputation among the tribesmen for being a man of religion, and a pious Catholic. His last act before leaving Hazelton on his road to Oakalla and to trial was to see that his youngest boy was baptized by the Catholic father at Hazelton.

Nor is Simon a poor Indian. Even if he had to face the white man's burden of the high cost of living, he could face it more cheerfully than the average Vancouverite. As a hunter and trapper he can make more money than a professor or a longshoreman.

"Get good price for beaver now. I trapped from May 2 till June 10 this year before I give myself up, and I sold my beaver skins to the Hudson's Bay Company for $1,250," was Simon's casual comment on his last five weeks' work, and his well-filled wallet. There were more Indians than Simon Gun-a-noot who did well in those few weeks. "I was Simon's pack team brought $19,300 worth of furs out from the Babine in one load, which was bought by two buyers, while since March furs to the value of $125,000 have been shipped out of Hazelton. The story of how Gun-a-noot's surrender was arranged is an interesting one and may have a great deal to do with the further opening up of the North, for it is said that four other Indians who are wanted on murder charges, and for whose safety the Indian tribesmen have been resisting the advance of white prospectors and explorers, are to be handed over by the chiefs if they are not satisfied that Simon Gun-a-noot is given a fair trial. They have retained Stuart Henderson, K.C., of Victoria, to defend Gun-a-noot, and in a dramatic presentation before leaving promised the lawyer the key to the whole North country, including "all the gold, all the silver and all the copper" so long as Simon is returned to them safe and not dishonored.

Credit for Surrender.
To Mr. George Reirnes, the veteran packer, who has the confidence of the Indians, and to the Catholic fathers in the district, is said to be due the credit for securing the delivery up of Gun-a-noot as part of a general plan for the pacification of all ill-feeling between the whites and the Indians of the upper Skeena districts.

According to Mr. Henderson, there is little likelihood of any "unwritten law" defence being raised at the trial. "Simon himself, and all the Indian chiefs insist that Simon never shot the two white men, and that he is absolutely innocent," said Mr. Henderson. "He is very sensitive about his wife and children, and would not for a minute have his wife's name mixed up in the case," he added.

Simon's story, according to his friends, is that when he saw an armed posse start out on the trail, and learned that they were after him to charge him with the murder of McIntosh and Leclair, he took to the hills on general Indian impulses toward safety. Several times afterwards, it is said, he proposed giving himself up and facing trial, but his aged father persuaded him against such a course. Recently his father died, his wife is suffering with tuberculosis, and the need to secure comfort for her and education for his children is said to have decided Simon to take his chances and face the charges.

Wonderful Story.
The full story of Simon's travels through the unexplored head waters of the Stikine and Naas rivers, living Indian fashion, with the aid of his gun and his home-made traps, would fill many a book and settle many questions for the geographers. He tells of meadow lands at the head of the Stikine so situated that never more than four inches of snow come in winter, where moose and caribou could find easy grazing all winter through. And it is believed Simon knows a great deal about the mineral wealth of the unexplored interior.

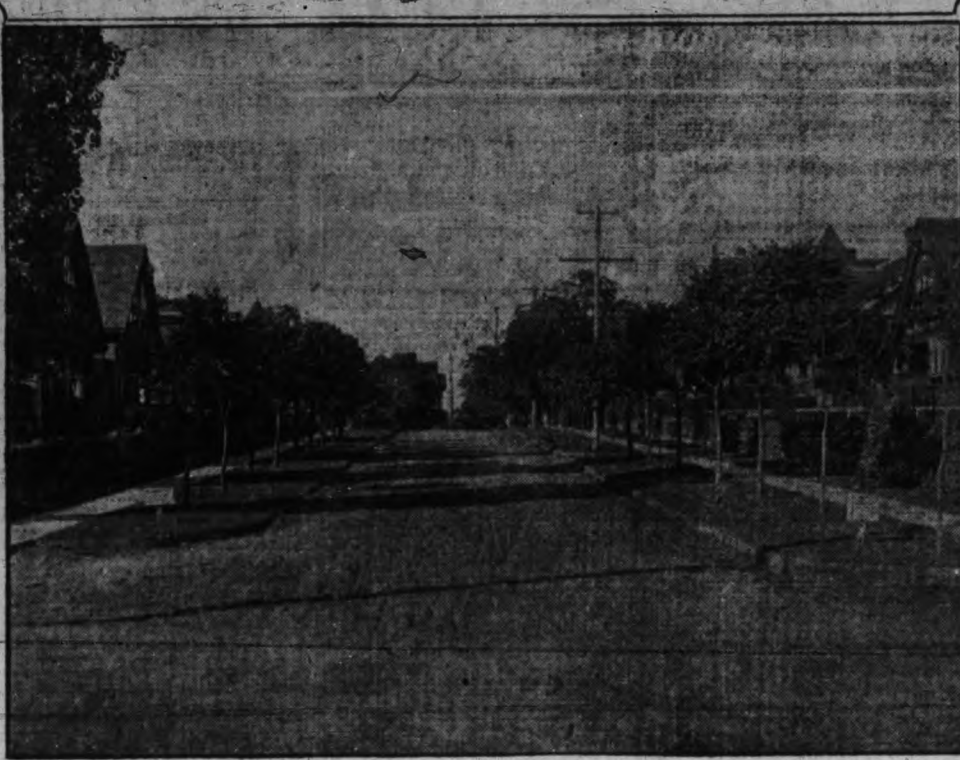

TRUTH-COMPELLING BELL

A bell only 5 inches high and 2 1/2 inches in diameter at the base, recently sold recently in London for 1,350 guineas. It is of bronze gilt, with human heads engraved on two side panels.

For centuries it has been a relic venerated by the peasantry of West Ireland. According to tradition it descended from heaven ringing loudly to St. Finian, patron of the seven churches of Scattery, a holy island near the mouth of the Shannon.

Throughout Galway it was believed that anyone who told a lie after being sworn on the golden bell would have his mouth twisted, and down to the middle of the last century it was successfully used for the discovery of information when all other means failed.—Tit-Bits.

LILY WHITE Corn Syrup

For Preserving

Thousands of the best house-keepers have discovered that using half sugar and half Lily White Corn Syrup makes preserving more uniformly successful.

To start with, the consistency is bound to be just right from the very nature of the syrup; there is no danger of the preserves crystallizing; the syrup brings out the natural flavour of the fruit; the keeping quality is excellent; and the preserves do not have the cloying sweetness of all sugar.

For better preserves, use Lily White Corn Syrup.

DUNCAN TO HAVE DISTRICT NURSE

Hospital Will Not Be Centre For Victorian Order, "Better Babies" Plans

Duncan, July 17.—Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan journeyed up to Duncan yesterday to interview the Board of Directors of the King's Daughters' Hospital in connection with the plans of the forthcoming "Better Babies and Child Welfare" exhibit. Considerable enthusiasm was evinced over the project, and every effort is being expended to ensure the overwhelming success of this important feature of the fall fair. A special committee of ladies has been appointed to undertake the arrangements.

In an endeavor to ascertain the attitude of the hospital towards the proposed establishment of a Victorian Order of Nurses in Duncan, Mrs. C. H. Hanning, Superintendent of the Order, interviewed the Board of Directors yesterday.

The Women's Institutes of the district have raised funds to permit of the establishment of a nurse in the Cowichan district, and it was proposed that she be allowed to work in connection with the hospital using that as a centre. Owing to the alleged expense entailed with such a course however, the Directors were unable to agree to the proposed plan, although the nurses had been guaranteed support from the district.

OKANAGAN SCHEME.

Vancouver, July 17.—First work is to be started soon to improve the great soldiers' land project in Southern Okanagan. Announcement was made yesterday by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, that the first contract for construction of irrigation flumes and ditches has been awarded to Colonel A. E. Griffin & Company, of Vancouver. Colonel Griffin is a well-known railway builder who saw much service in the construction corps in France.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

Vancouver, July 17.—The Provincial Conservatives are preparing for the next campaign. The British Columbia Conservative convention was held yesterday afternoon, September 29 and 30 as the dates for their first convention since 1914. It will be held in Vancouver and the date is arranged so that the delegates may visit the New Westminster Fair when they are not in convention. The principal business of the convention will be the choice of a Provincial leader.

Exceeded Requirements In Face of Hurricane

Foundation Hull 216 Averaged 11.29 Knots While Running Trials Under Adverse Wind and Tide Conditions
—Best Performance was 12.45 Knots

With everything against her, the second of the Foundation Company's ships yesterday made a remarkable showing on her official trials in the Gulf. Despite the adverse weather conditions the Foundation management adhered to its programme, and although hampered by a snorting southwester which reached a velocity of forty miles an hour, Hull 216 made good by exceeding specification requirements. The vessel averaged 11.29 knots for the six trips made over the measured mile at Parry Bay. The best round trip average was 11.74 knots, and on a single with the wind on her port quarter she averaged 12.45 knots.

Time and Averages

The official time and averages over the measured mile for the six trips were as follows: Five minutes 28 seconds, 11.04 knots; 5 minutes 1 second, 11.96 knots; 5 minutes 50 seconds, 10.28 knots; 5 minutes, 59 seconds, 12.05 knots; 6 minutes 1 second, 11.87 knots; 4 minutes 49 seconds, 12.45 knots. The last trip but one was made in the face of a veritable hurricane, and the fact that the ship made practically 16 knots on that occasion and under such conditions speaks volumes for the ship.

Officials Pleased

Officials of the company expressed the opinion that the ship would easily average over twelve knots under more normal conditions.

Both Capt. Letestu, representing the deck department for the French High Commission, and Emile E. Triquet, local French representative, spoke in the highest terms of the performance of the ship in gale weather. "She had everything against her, and bucking a two-knot current and a forty-mile gale she exceeded her speed requirements," declared Edw. Jenkins, head of the Foundation Company's plants here. "I am well pleased with the trial." Capt. Charles Harris, the pilot in charge of the bridge during the trials, was delighted with the way the ship handled under adverse conditions. "No finer wooden ship has been built," the captain went on to record.

A large number of officials made the trial cruise, and everybody returned enthusiastic over the performance of the ship. Among those who made the trip were: Edw. E. Jenkins, assistant Northwest manager of the company; Capt. R. J. Jackson, port captain; Capt. Letestu and E. E. Triquet, of the French High Commission; W. G. Winterburn, local representative of the Bureau Veritas; Capt. W. J. Stephens and H. Barnett, surveyors for the Bureau Veritas; Dan Allen, Lloyd's surveyor; J. R. Hodgson, machinery inspector for the Bureau Veritas; Basil Prior, Capt. H. G. Jarvis, Seth Ward and Sam Shaw.

Engines Worked Smoothly

C. E. Bennett, installation engineer at the Ogden Point outfitting plant, was in charge of the engine-room during the trials.

"She worked like a charm," said Mr. Bennett after the cruise; "the boys certainly made a clean job." He stated that the employees of the outfitting plant took special pride in fitting out Hull 216, and some excellent work had been put into the ship.

The smooth working of the engines was particularly remarked upon by the engineers. This is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that the engines were not turned over for the first time until within an hour or two of the vessel being dispatched from the Ogden Point plant to Esquimalt for drydocking.

On her endurance trials yesterday the ship steamed in the Gulf for several hours and at the same time the compasses were adjusted by Capt. H. G. Jarvis. On the return of the ship to the outfitting plant about 4 o'clock the gale was still blowing from the southwest, but under the guidance of Pilot Harris, a particularly fine landing was made.

A few minor details have to be completed aboard the vessel, and when this work has been accomplished the boat will be turned over to the French Government.

Another Next Week.

The Ogden Point plant is now turning out completed vessels very rapidly. Now that materials are being delivered with more regularity the officials of the outfitting plant expect to turn a ship over within the prescribed limit of ten days.

The next vessel to be made ready for her trials will be Hull 209, which, it is anticipated, will be ready to enter drydock by Tuesday night. In that case Hull 209 will go on her official trials next Thursday.

Local Engines Now.

The first unit of locally-built marine engines were this week delivered at the outfitting plant by Hutchison Bros. & Co., Ltd., this concern having been awarded a contract for five sets of propelling machinery.

The officials of the plant like the look of the Hutchison engines, and predict that the first ship to be equipped with them will make a fine average on her trials.

STEWART SERVICE

Commencing July 18 the G.T.P. will operate a weekly steamer service through to Stewart from Prince Rupert.

TRIANGULAR SERVICE WILL BE RESUMED

Regular Sailings Between Victoria, Seattle and Vancouver
Recommence Monday

On Monday next the triangular service of the C. P. R. will again be operating on a normal basis. The service, which was disrupted by the seamen's strike, will be the same as existed prior to the walk-out. The triangular run will be maintained by the steamships Princess Victoria and Princess Charlotte operating between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

The Princess Charlotte, which has been laid up for several weeks, has been recommissioned and is now alternating with the Princess Royal in the night service between this port and Vancouver. When the Princess Charlotte is transferred to the triangular route next week the high speed service will be taken care of by the Princess Adelaide and Princess Royal.

The Princess Alice and Princess Mary are now running to Skagway and the Princess Patricia is making double daily sailings between Vancouver and Nanaimo.

The Princess Maquina is giving the usual service to the west coast of Vancouver Island. The Maquina reached port yesterday morning from Port Alice and last night went on to Vancouver.

LIST OF GUESTS FOR FRIDAY'S LAUNCHING

NORWEGIAN SHIP HERE FOR REPAIRS

Schooner H. C. Hansen Hauled Out on V. M. D. Ways For Recaulking

The Norwegian five-masted auxiliary schooner H. C. Hansen has been hauled out on the Victoria Machinery Dock, and the work of recaulking her has been commenced. The big schooner reached port yesterday morning in tow from Seattle. She was hove-to in the heavy S. W. blow, and the tug Mystery was sent out to assist before the sailing craft could be lined up at the entrance to the Inner Harbor.

The vessel is owned by Capt. H. C. Hansen, a well-known Norwegian ship-owner, who is now in Victoria watching construction of two 1,500-ton schooners building to his order at the Chobeberg shipyards.

Capt. Markussen, who was stationed here for some months as representative of the owners, is now in command of the H. C. Hansen.

Since her arrival on the coast from the South Sea the schooner H. C. Hansen has been lying at Seattle undergoing engine repairs. After being recaulked the vessel will be berthed alongside the Chobeberg shipyard for additional repairs before being dispatched to her home port.

To Load on Columbia.

The vessel is under charter to load a full cargo of railroad ties on the Columbia River for delivery in the United Kingdom.

The schooners being built at the Chobeberg yard for Capt. Hansen are of the four-masted type. The Washington will be launched toward the latter part of this month. Mrs. C. Chobeberg, wife of the manager of the local shipyard, has been selected as sponsor.

EMBARGO ON EXPORT FREIGHT THREATENED NOW IN NEW YORK

New York, July 17.—An embargo on export freight was threatened to-day as the strike of firemen, oilers and seamen continued to spread. Congestion of freight on the docks has become a serious matter and an embargo on shipments for transfer to coastwise steamers was expected to be made operative at any time.

The time used in Pacific Standard for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for high and low water are given in feet above low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 2.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

WHEAT CARGO ON WHALEN SPOILED

Declares Mate J. Naylor, Back in Port With Other Members of Crew

Owing to her lengthy voyage the Australian wheat cargo carried by the Canadian auxiliary schooner Laurel Whalen is in poor shape, according to John Naylor, mate of the vessel, who, together with the second mate, chief engineer and other members of the crew, reached this port from New Zealand on the liner Niagara.

The Laurel Whalen left Australia early in November for British Columbia carrying a part cargo of Australian wheat in her hold. The auxiliary engine became disabled and the ship was forced to sail over 2,000 miles to Auckland, where she has been for the past six months effecting repairs. The vessel's crank-shafts were fractured and Mate Naylor says new ones had to be forged at Dunedin. When the articles expired on April 3 of this year the members of the crew demanded to be paid off and in the subsequent action brought by the crew Mr. Justice Cooper, of Auckland, gave judgment in their favor, granting full pay and expenses to the port of clearance.

The crew signed on for one year, the Laurel Whalen having sailed from Victoria in April, 1918, with a cargo of lumber for Adelaide, South Australia. The wheat was attacked by weevils on the homeward trip and in the opinion of Mate Naylor, the grain cargo is ruined.

The Laurel Whalen, in spite of the delay, will fulfill her contract and is shortly expected to deliver her cargo on this coast.

Niagara Sailed This Afternoon For Australasia

The Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara, Capt. J. T. Rolls, arrived at the Outer Docks about 10 o'clock this morning and cleared this afternoon on her outward voyage to Australasia.

The liner took out 600 passengers, prominent among them being Right Hon. W. F. Massey, Premier of New Zealand, and Sir Joseph Ward, Finance Minister.

CATS THAT BARK.

How would you like to have as a pet a cat that barked? Such a freak animal was recently exhibited in Boston, U.S.A., and created a great deal of interest, although it is not stated if it combined the mouse-catching propensities of tabby with the good qualities of a watch-dog.

America seems to specialize in producing strange freaks of Nature. One of these peculiar creatures was a giant glowworm, found in the Santa Cruz mountains, which was about 4 1/2 ins. in length. When placed in the dark, a gorgeous effect was produced by the luminous rings encircling the body.

Huge blossoms of mammoth fruit are of frequent occurrence, but one of the most remarkable such freaks is a garden daisy, which, developing the modern habit of co-operation, formed seven flowers, joined together by one wide, flat stalk.

This plant, which was grown at Southcoast, Bath, is a shocking example of what happens on exceeding nature, since its condition is scientifically known as fasciation, which is a result of over-feeding.

The ocean, too, provides its quota of curiosities, amongst those on record being a double-sided flounder, both sides of which were marked exactly alike with dusky fins and a misplaced eye. More strange, however, was the catch of another angler, whose bait lured to destruction a hybrid fish with the body of a perch but a head like that of a pike.

There are numerous instances of white blackbirds having been seen; and other white songsters include canaries and linnets; while a white sparrow exhibited at a Gorington show was awarded a first prize.—Tit-Bits.

OPENING OF HUT AT ESQUIMALT HOSPITAL

Large Gathering at Formal
Opening of Red Cross Hut
Yesterday

Erected by the Victoria branch of the Red Cross to fill a long-felt want at the institution, the new recreation hut at the Esquimalt Military Hospital was formally opened yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large assembly of Red Cross workers, patients and their friends. Fred W. Jones, chairman of the Victoria and District Red Cross, formally handed over the building to the military authorities, represented by Major-General R. G. E. Leckie, C. M. G., G. O. C., and Lt.-Col. Donald, A. D. M. S.

No Salutes.
In his brief address Mr. Jones expressed the gratitude of the Red Cross workers to the public whose liberal generosity had made the erection of the hut and other undertakings of the Red Cross possible. He stated that although the Victoria branch had handled about $400,000 in cash since its inauguration not one cent had been expended in salaries to its workers. He voiced the thanks of the Red Cross to the officers of Military District No. 11, for their ready co-operation in connection with the erection of the hut; to the Y. M. C. A., which had graciously withdrawn its own scheme for a hut to make way for the Red Cross; to Parfitt Bros. for their excellent construction; to the Royal Engineers for help in connection with the plans, and to the daily press for their ever-generous support to the cause of the Red Cross.

Indicating the longest new piano on the stage, Mr. Jones stated that it was a gift from Muggins who had collected the necessary funds for its purchase "before breakfast one morning," and who was now engaged in collecting money for a new billiard table.

Future of Hospital.
Major-General Leckie accepted the building on behalf of the Military District No. 11, expressing the appreciation of officers and men for the long-continued work of the Red Cross. Lt.-Col. Donald referred to the splendid spirit evinced by the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., both of which organizations had been rivals in the project of erecting a recreation hut at the hospital. At the conclusion of his brief address, he said:

"This will certainly be the last hospital on the island to close. Even after we have our military patients finished with, I think this hospital will be kept on, practically for all time, perhaps in some Government capacity, so such a hut will be of more than temporary use."

Major O'Hagan and Pte. Bass, on behalf of the hospital staff and patients, both thanked the Red Cross for the gift of the hut, the latter calling for three cheers and a "tiger" from the convalescents, the hut echoing with the lusty response. At the conclusion of the formal proceedings, Mrs. Dalby Morckill, of Vancouver, delighted the gathering with vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. C. Warn.

CAPTAIN MERSTON IS BACK IN CITY AGAIN

Went as Private and Won
D.C.M. and M.C., With Bar, as Well as Commission

One of the members of the first draft of the 58th to leave Victoria for service overseas was Private W. Merston, who left his professional calling as a Land Surveyor to fight in the ranks of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. After nearly five years' service Private Merston, now Captain W. Merston, D.C.M., M.C., with bar, has returned to the city. When he left France Captain Merston was a G.S.O., 3, of the Fourth Division.

Many members of the British Columbia units will recall with pride that one of the first raids undertaken on the western front was staged by the famous 7th battalion. When Captain Merston went to France it was with a re-inforcing draft to the original Fighting Seventh and in connection with that memorable raid Captain Merston—then a Private—led the way for the small band of wire cutters, an incident which associated western men with an important innovation in trench warfare.

Captain Merston has been back a few days and is looking up old-time acquaintances. For the time being the aftermath of serious wounds received in 1916 necessitate his remaining a patient under medical advice. His future plans are uncertain for the moment. He expects, however, to resume his old profession.

Don't start on a trip without attention to lubricating oil, gasoline and water.
